Hughes Aid Meyer Jailed In Baby Case

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (INS)—Police reinforcements were called to help put Johnny Meyer, press agent for plane maker Howard Hughes, under arrest in a night club early today on a charge of failing to support the illegitimate baby of a former cigaret girl.

PUBLICIST JOHNNY MEYER
Arrested in Paternity Case

Meyer, trailed to the Club El Morocco by Elvin Unterman, counsel for former model Patricia Miles, and Patrolman Ardiff in plain clothes, demanded, "Where is your badge? Where are your credentials?" when Ardiff seized his arm.

Ardiff said that Meyer, who was with a table of friends, refused to budge when a warrant was produced in which Miss Miles accused him of being father of her 9-months-old son. She is suing for $100,000.

The club was in an uproar as attendants sent for additional police. Two patrolmen, who arrived in a squad car, said they had some difficulty getting past the doorman.

LAWYER DEPUTIZED

The earlier arrival of Miss Miles and her lawyer also caused a commotion.

Ardiff loudly deputized Unterman to help him when the portly Meyer indicated a reluctance to get up from the table without additional proof of the policeman's identity.

Meyer was hustled off to the East 51st st. station, then to city prison, where he was freed in $500 bail.

When Meyer arrived, protesting, at the police station, he shouted to Desk Sgt. John Green that some pretty big men, including Sen. Owen Brewster (R.) of Maine, had tried to "push me around."

When taken upstairs, he invited news men and photographers to "step into my office." When asked to pose for pictures, he said:

"Sure, I'm used to accusations. Go ahead."

DENIES PATERNITY

He repeated his denial that he had ever been out with Miss Miles and declared he was not the father of her child.

Miss Miles arrived at the station wearing a natty two-piece suit and with her hair in a bun at the back of her head. She said she didn't want to see Meyer, just wanted to know what had happened to him. She said:

"All I want is support for my child."

Patrolman Ardiff said Meyer had thrown a couple of light punches at him while protesting that he didn't show his badge. Ardiff declined to make a complaint, however.

Meyer, when taken to the Tombs, shouted that the police had taken his $500 watch. They denied it.

PEELS OFF $500

At the Tombs, he furnished his $500 cash bail from a roll in his pocket, and rejoined his friends who were waiting to drive him to a "coming out" party in a midtown restaurant.

Meyer attained prominence during the Senate probe of Hughes' wartime plane contracts.

He became involved in a dispute with Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late President, over expense items charged to Hughes for the entertainment of Roosevelt and other Air Force officers.

Meyer irked the committee members by disappearing when they wanted to talk with him and by stoutly defending the large sums spent for entertainment during the war.

It was alleged the British used tear gas to seize the ships.

Poles Back Palestine Partition

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 8 (AP)—Poland today urged the United Nations to drop all other proposed solutions to the Palestine problem and concentrate on plans to partition the Holy Land into separate Jewish and Arab countries.

At the same time, Poland demanded action to permit immediate immigration of 250,000 European Jewish refugees into Palestine vigorous Arab protests against further Jewish immigration.

Poland's position was outlined by Josef Winiewicz before the General Assembly's 57-nation Palestine committee, which already had heard Uruguay and Panama support the partition plan and the Moslem Dominion of Pakistan line up with the Arabs in opposing it.

Winiewicz did not specifically accept the partition plan, but he expressed opposition to both the Arab plan for an independent Arab state and the minority recommendations of the UN Special Committee on Palestine for a federalized state.

Poland's declaration made it clear that the eastern European countries were not following a unified Soviet bloc policy on Palestine. Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia already had taken different positions; czechoslovakia supported the partition plan and Yugoslavia advocated a federalized state.

There still was no definite indication as to the stand either Russia or the United States would take. Both were expected to make their main policy statements later this week, possibly Thursday or Friday.

Fresh Fish Floods Market, Price Cut Despite Meat Ban

Supplies of fresh fish, the most common substitute for meat, were flooding Boston today and, oddly enough, at decreased prices despite its demand as a replacement food to compensate for President Truman's program for meatless Tuesdays and Thursdays without eggs of poultry.

More than 1,000,000 pounds of fresh fish are being brought in daily and, in spite of the demand, prices at the Fish Pier today were 2 to 3 cents a pound lower than last week.

This drop was reflected in the retail price. Chain markets reported the price of whole fish had dropped 2 to 3 cents a pound since last Friday while more expensive fillets had been cut as much as 6 cents a pound.

All varieties except mackerel were plentiful and dealers reported increases in sales from 10 to 20 per cent with a corresponding drop in meat sales.

BIG TEST TUESDAY

Most householders co-operated 100 per cent in making yesterday a meatless day, while hotels and city and State institutions also eliminated meat from their menus. Many restaurants served meat but indicated that they were forced to dispose of supplies ordered in advance rather than risk spoilage and waste.

It was generally agreed that the first 100 per cent test of the meatless day would come next Tuesday and complete compliance was expected.

Sufficient notice also has been given to make the second test of the Truman program a success tomorrow.

Poultry and eggs are expected to be absent from all menus in public eating places and in institutions an dhospitals, except where these items are essential

British Supersonic Robot Plane Flies 900 Miles an Hour in Test

PADSTOW, Eng., Oct. 8 (AP)—A small, pilotless rocket plane, launched by a British bomber high above the Atlantic, attained a speed estimated at 900 miles an hour today in an experiment to determine the effects of flight faster than sound. The plane was the first of a group to be used by the Supply Ministry in experiments with super-sonic speed.

The experiments were expected to produce valuable data about performances of ultra high speed aircraft as they approached and surpassed the speed of sound, which varies from about 660 miles an hour at sea level to 760 miles an hour at 30,000 feet.

The robot, cut loose nearly seven miles above earth, 14 miles west of the Scilly islands, was adjusted to dive into the sea after about 20 miles. It was made of polished mahogany, had an eight-foot wing span and about 12 feet long.

ROCKET MOTOR USED

Equipped with transmitting apparatus to report technical details of its behavior, its alcohol burning motor was an improvement of those used in German rocket-propelled fighters during the war.

Scientists will require a week's study of the records before details can be announced.

"Until there has been a thorough study, we shall have no definite information as to whether the robot has actually broken through the sonic barrier," said one scientist. "If the tests yield the information it is hoped they will, we shall have made one of the biggest advances yet in the field of supersonic research."

Sir Ben Lockspeiser, director of scientific research for the Minstry used a pilotless plane to avoid gambling with human life.

For an instant after its release from the bomber, the experimental craft plummeted toward the sea. Then its motor, estimated to develop 2000 horsepower at 900 miles an hour, caught hold. Ground observers watched the start of the flight through radar. A conventional jet plane hovered above the mother plane making photographs.

Different plane models will be used in later experiments, including one like the De Haviland tailless Swallow jet plane in which Geoffrey De Haviland, famous test pilot, was killed last year. He was believed flying close to the speed of sound when he crashed in the Thames estuary.

Robot Plane Off To Base in Ohio

STEPHENVILLE, Nfld., Oct. 8 (AP) — The mechanically-guided U. S. Army Skymaster Robert E. Lee took off at 7:32 a. m. today for Wilmington, Ohio, after a successful robot flight across the Atlantic.

The plane carried an air force crew of ten, commanded by Col. James M. Gillespie of San Antonio, Tex.

No one touched controls of the big C-54 until it came to Harmon Field for landing. Then Gillespie took over. He said automatic landing facilities were not available here. It was the first time the "mechanical brain" had been interrupted in the round trip over the ocean.

The crewmen said they intended to fly completely by controls until the plane reached its midwestern base.

2 Famed Nazi Warships, Towed by Reds, Sink

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 8 (AP)—The newspaper Dagens Nyheter said today the former German pocket battleship Luetzow and aircraft carrier Graf Zeppelin sank in the Baltic recently while being towed toward Russian ports. Both vessels were bombed by Allied planes at Stettin in 1945 and damaged badly.

The paper said there were three theories concerning the fate of the vessels: That the Russians scuttled them, that they met with an accident; that they were sabotaged by Poles.

Admits Hub Beauty Lived In His Home

Nathan Borin, millionaire Chicago picture frame manufacturer, today rallied to the defense of beautiful Pepper Donna, 19, former Boston typist who made good in the beauty world as Miss Miami, charged by Borin's estranged wife with using his apartment.

FIRST TASTE—Mickey Schuster, 28-year-old Youngstown, O., furniture worker, happily gulps a ham sandwich and milk shake after undergoing several operations which enabled him to eat for first time in 26 years. Mickey swallowed a can of lye. It destroyed his esophagus.

Borin, admitting that Pepper lived in his apartment, said the attractive brunette, who was a runner-up in the recent Atlantic City Miss America contest, was a "lovely girl."

It was in Borin's apartment that Mrs. Claire Borin on an unexpected return to Chicago found several suits of clothing 20 pairs of shoes and many women's unmentionables, all belonging to the former Boston beauty.

"I know Pepper very well," Borin said. "She's a lovely girl. Certainly she lived in my apartment, but so did several others over a long period of time. I often gave up my apartment to people when they couldn't find a place to live."

WINTHROP CO-ED

Pepper, known in Winthrop to her high school chums as Janet Shore, who had stage ambitions and ideas on how to crash Hollywood, found herself in the middle of another one of the famous Borin marital tangles which have been keeping the Chicago divorce courts busy for a decade or more.

Quite innocently, according to Borin, Pepper accepted the use of his apartment. Mrs. Borin, however, did not know of the arrangement when she returned unexpectedly from the West Coast and, finding no hotel accommodations, went to the apartment.

Her key, which used to work the lock wouldn't fit, so she had a locksmith open the door of the lavish eight-room apartment.

Once inside, instead of finding only masculine garments, Mrs. Borin discovered all the closets filled with clothes which she was certain she hadn't left behind. There were too many to forget.

"I know that I couldn't have left 20 pair of shoes, 30 suits and ever so many underthings," she said.

STRANGE TRUNK

Besides, she added, the large wardrobe trunk with letters "Pepper" stencilled in gold didn't belong to her. A quick call to her attorney who had represented her in her futile divorce actions about results.

The attorney questioned the maid to learn that Pepper had been living there for weeks. Not only that, she had been parading around the apartment in only a smoking jacket.

Interviewed by newsmen a short time after the discovery, Mrs. Borin, 36, an attractive woman in her own right, said:

"At last I have him. I haven't relaxed like this for months. I'm going to get that divorce and more alimony. I know that Nate must be unhappy now, but he's made me plenty unhappy in the past."

With this, Mrs. Borin continued her tour of the apartment. In the bathroom, which had lost its bachelor touch with the addition of many creams and powders, she found more feminine trappings, negligees and panties.

MORE EVIDENCE

Mrs. Borin, who spent her time rummaging through other rooms in the apartment, discovered what she termed much more damaging evidence of the friendship between her millionaire husband

Indian Summer Stays 3d Day

Weather calculated to tickle a young man's fancy and revive the spirits of flagging foliage remained in Boston and New England for the third day today.

The mercury, which blithely touched 82 yesterday, started to climb toward that mark again today, the weatherman reported, with fair skies decorated here and there by high clouds. Tonight there will be considerable cloudiness but the air will still be mild.

Tomorrow is another day, however, and it will probably bring clearing weather and a drop in temperature but there should be no complaints, the weatherman reflected.

Ex of Ann Hewitt's Mate Ruled Suicide

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8 (AP) —The death of Gertrude Nicholson, only 24 hours before radio entertainer Frank Nicholson married heiress Ann Cooper Hewitt, was officially recorded today as suicide.

A coroner's jury, after extensive investigation, decided death was caused by an overdose of headache tablets. Her motive was not determined.

Divorce Judge Warns Battling O'Neils to Beware of Perjury

Under a warning to be very careful about perjury, the divorce trial of Daniel O'Neil, 56, of Oakland ter., Jamaica Plain, against his wife, Ethel, 55, continued today before Judge Robert G. Wilson, Jr., in Suffolk Probate Court.

O'Neil, a onetime song and dance man in vaudeville and now supervisor for the Boston Housing Authority, charges his wife with desertion and cruelty.

Daniel O'Neil

After each of the couple had outlined tribulations through 25 years of married life, Judge Wilson interrupted with:

"I wish I could catch one of you two lying. Be very careful of what you say when you contradict each other. If you aren't careful I'm going to get one of you for perjury."

ACCUSES WIFE

O'Neil charged that his wife once had been friendly with a "Dr. T.", while Mrs. O'Neil, in contesting, said that her hubby had another girl friend.

She accused O'Neil of striking and abusing her while drinking, from Montreal to California and to New York. In Montreal, she said, O'Neil not only punched her on arriving home intoxicated one night but woke her up in the morning for a repeat.

She said that when she and her daughter then in her teens, set up a home on Commonwealth ave., Brighton, O'Neil came and boasted about the women he could have, Mrs. O'Neil testified, denying she was a drinking woman or that she had ever been complained about by tenants or landlords for drinking habits. Mrs. O'Neil, 55, was for 10 years a telephone operator at the Hotel Touraine.

IN-LAWS GALORE

O'Neil, in pressing his charges, said she always wanted to live with her relatives. One time there "were 13 of us and that's an unlucky number," he commented.

He said he came home one day to find his wife sitting on a couch with a man identified only as "Dr. T."

"I grabbed him and told him I was going to throw him out the window. I said 'You're breaking up my home!' He did the best thing he could. He ran."

Again "Dr. T" got into the testimony when O'Neil said he came home and learned his daughter "Snooks" was still out.

"I heard Snooks come in and start talking to my wife. Snooks told my wife: "You wouldn't care how late I stayed out as long as you can play around with Dr. T."

"BUSTED" HIS NOSE

O'Neil also told of his brother-in-law "busting" his nose." "A busted nose is no good for singing," he said. He denied striking his wife in various places they visited or that he had thrown a chair at her while playing at the old Palace on Broadway.

There was, O'neil charged, a good deal of drinking going on among the assorted relatives and he accused his wife of doing a good share of it.

In 1922, he testified, she showed up for a date at the Little Bldg. here.

"She was weaving," he said. "She slapped my face."

Asked if he had trouble with his wife over another woman, O'Neil said:

"I'd like to have the name of the woman."

Woman Robbed On Own Doorstep

Mrs. Anastasia Sidlasky, 42, of Harmon st., Mattapan, was slugged in the face and robbed of $300 today after she had reached her front door steps and was about to enter her home.

The victim was fishing in her bag for a key, she told police, when a man she described as about her own age smashed her in the face, grabbed her pocketbook and pushed her down a short flight of stairs. The assailant then fled into the woods.

Screams of Mrs. Sidlasky brought neighbors who called police. Search of adjoining woods with floodlights failed to uncover any trace of the robber.

Mrs. Sidlasky told police she had drawn the money from a bank yesterday and had planned to pay taxes with it today.

SOMERVILLE'S JOHN M. LYNCH, DAUGHTER PATRICIA
Mayoralty Primary Winner Rewarded With Kiss

12 Bay State Mayors Win Renominations

Without exception, mayors of 12 Massachusetts cities seeking re-election were assured of renomination today in primary elections which were both spirited and close. Perhaps the closest contest of all saw Rep. Michael F. Skerry of Medford win the Democratic nomination over former Mayor John C. Carr by 46 votes. The vote in Ward 1, where both reside, turned the tide in favor of Skerry, who won out, 2657 to 2611.

Mayor Walter E. Lawrence won the Republican nomination easily over Alderman James J. MacDonald.

In another close contest, Mayor Bernard L. Sullivan of Chelsea was renominated in a non-partisan primary which saw Alderman Thomas A. Keating, making his first mayoralty fight, poll 3685 votes to 3781 for the mayor in a field of five candidates.

Somerville, too, furnished one of the biggest primary surprises with former Mayor John M. Lynch—home from the war—outballoting Mayor G. Edward Bradley, 10,838 to 9109.

In Everett, voters cast an all-time record vote of 15,752 in a non-partisan primary which saw State Sen Sumner G. Whittier poll 6180 votes to 3503 for former Alderman James F. Reynolds seeking the office left vacant by the death of Mayor Frank E. Lewis. An also-ran in a field of five candidates was former-Mayor James A. Roche who got but 1229 votes.

Brockton saw Mayor Joseph H. Downey, three times mayor, lead a six-man field by a substantial margin. He polled 7399 votes of the 16,261 cast. He ran ahead of his nearest rival, Rep. G. Gerard Lucey, by nearly 3000 votes.

The Peabody primary saw 65 per cent of the electorate turn out to renominate Mayor Leo McGrath, who seeks a second term. With 60 per cent of the vote counted, the mayor had polled 1863 votes to 1257 for City Purchasing Agent Martin P. Doyle and 454 for Councilor Alden Quirk.

Fall River's Mayor William P. Grant was an easy victor, but any one of three other candidates appeared to be in the runnerup spot as tabulating progressed. With the count completed in 29 of 47 precincts, Mayor Grant had 8572 votes. The others polled as follows: Jose Silver, former tax collector, 2960; Joseph P. Clark, Jr., 2861, and Edward R. Harrington, 2718.

CHELSEA

Three aldermen-at-large were among eight candidates nominated for that office from a field of 16. They were: Alderman Joseph B. Greenfield, Alderman Daniel E. Carroll, Alderman James A. Hanlon, Joseph Margolis, Harry Colten, Raymond Harney, Jr., Joseph LoPresti, Jr., and James McCracken.

MEDFORD

QUINCY

Mrs. Edna B. Austin, campaigning for a seat she formerly held in the city council, was a primary winner for that office, running second in a field of 13 candidates for councilor-at-large.

Others nominated were City Councilor Frank N. Orcutt, Carl W. Anderson, Alfred G. Helfrich, Patrick J. Faherty, Jr. and Joseph E. Brett.

Atty. Gen. Clark, Freedom Train Sponsor, in Hub Talk

Atty. Gen. Tom Clark, sponsor of the famous Freedom Train due here this weekend, will be the chief speaker at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon in the Copley Plaza Hotel today as observance of Rededication Week swings into high gear.

Competing with its parent body, the Junior Chamber of Commerce meets at 12:30 today in Faneuil Hall, itself among the nation's most hallowed sites. There the principal address will be delivered by Brig. Gen. Henry Parkman, Jr., recently returned from a government mission in Germany.

The keynote address of Rededication Week, set aside by the city for renewal of pledges to the American way of life, was delivered at the Advertising Club of Boston yesterday by Cong. John W. McCormack, Democratic whip.

In a fiery plea for a return to the faith of the founding fathers, McCormack urged an end to racial prejudices, religious bigotry and class hatred.

Meanwhile, plans were being completed for the patriotic procession Sunday on the Boston Common parade grounds in which more than 250 organizations representing more than 100,000 members will participate.

The Freedom Train touring the nation with the country's most precious documents of liberty, will be open for inspection by the public at North Station Saturday between 10 a. m. and 10 p. m. It will then be moved to South Station where it will again be open for public inspection Sunday between the same hours.

Arrival of the Freedom Train will be greeted officially at 12 noon when all activities throughout the city are expected to halt for one minute while church and fire bells and ship's whistles join public address systems carrying transcribed broadcasts of the famous Liberty Bell.

Another highlight of Rededication Week is scheduled for 12 to 2 p. m. tomorrow at Parkman bandstand where federal, state, city and county employes will gather for a huge rally to be addressed by Gov. Bradford, Acting Mayor Hynes and Federal Judge Francis J. W. Ford.

Tomorrow evening the Business and Professional Women's Club will meet at the Copley Plaza Hotel. Members and guests will be addressed by Vera M. Deane, research director for the Foreign Policy Ass'n, and Judge Jennie Loitman Barron.

Cheers, Jeers Greet Attlee Cabinet Shifts

LONDON, Oct. 8 (AP)—A drastic overhauling of the Labor government in which five cabinet ministers were ousted and left-wing Fuel Minister Emanuel Shinwell was demoted, drew some British cheers and some jeers today.

British press comment generally followed party lines and ranged from the full endorsement to the outright protests of the Conservative Daily Graphic, which declared nothing less than a coalition regime could fight successfully the nation's crucial battle against economic disaster.

The trend of most opposition comment was that Prime Minister Attlee had strengthened his position somewhat by bringing in new—and younger—blood and eliminating "deadwood," but that still more strength was needed.

Four London newspapers including the Communist Daily Worker, suggested the changes, involving some 30 posts in the government, represented a Socialist swing to the right.

A Labor Party spokesman declared such statements were without foundation.

Call 13 Witnesses In Swindle Trial

As the second day of the trial involving two men charged with the selling of $200,000 worth of stock in a played-out Nevada mine opened in Federal Court here today, 13 persons, many from New England, were ready to testify as government witnesses.

Magnus G. Thomle, 57, of Mina, Nev., one-time candidate for the U. S. Senate from that state, and James J. Lynch of Brooklyn are the defendants, charged with using the mails to defraud in connection with the stock sales. Investors in all parts of the country were induced to put more than $200,000 into the scheme, federal authorities charge.

George E. Berry of Brookline st., Lynn, a traveling salesman, the first witness called, said he had known Thomle for several years and had put $2000 into the mine when Thomle said it gave promise of yielding 40,000 tons of ore annually.

Gift Doll Cheers Patty in Hospital

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 8—Patty Becker, 7, of Schenectady, N. Y., tightly hugged a life-sized doll—a gift from an admirer—today as she waited patiently for the operation which may allow her to run and play like other little girls.

Doctors at the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children said that later this week they will amputate the child's withered right leg so she may have an artificial limb.

The great big doll was the gift of Arthur Giokas, Springfield merchant, who ordered it in New York and had it flown here.

Patty now wants a "sparkle" doll to take with her into the operating room so she "won't be afraid." Giokas said he would take care of this little matter today.

Family of 7 With Tiny Infant Evicted From Home in Garage

CHICAGO, Oct. 8 (AP)—A family of seven, including a seven-weeks-old baby, who for the last month have slept in parks, an automobile, and a garage, sought police aid last night after the father said he was able to pay rent but that no landlord would accept his children.

Thomas Hart, 47, a painter, said he, his wife, Evelyn, 39, and five of their eight children were evicted from the garage yesterday by the board of health because the garage had no sanitation facilities.

Hart said he and his family were evicted Sept. 3 from their West Side apartment they had occupied for five years when the building was sold. He stated that for four nights the family slept in parks and spent five nights in an automobile owned by a son, William, 17. Then, for four weeks, the garage was their home, he said.

Evicted from the garage, they returned to the car, but thieves had stripped it, taking the seats, Hart said.

The five evicted children range from 7 weeks to 13 years. Three other children are staying with friends.

Police arranged with the Salvation Army to house Mrs. Hart and the three youngest children temporarily. Robert, 11, and David, 13, were sent to the juvenile home. Hart still was seeking a place to sleep.

U. S. Dancer Goes On Trial in Cuba Yacht Love Killing

By JAMES RUSSELL

HAVANA, Oct. 8 (INS)—Patricia Schmidt, weeping softly in a crowded Havana courtroom, went on trial today for the slaying of John Lester Mee aboard the Chicago lawyer-playboy's yacht last April.

After being delayed by a routine swindle case, during which the 22-year-old night-club singer, from Toledo, O., waited nervously in an ante-room, the long-awaited trial got underway at 10:02 a. m.

Only about 100 persons were able to find accommodations in the small crowded courtroom.

EMBASSY ATTACKED

Shortly before the trial opened an angry charge was made that the U. S. embassy in Havana gave unfair aid to the exotic entertainer, whose brunette beauty showed results of her long confinement in Guanabocoa prison.

The dancer was expected to plead before the three-judge tribunal that she killed Mee because he threatened her with a sword.

Her story of the slaying was to be given in English, then translated into Spanish for the judges.

The sword—key to the defense case—probably will be introduced in evidence. It is one of the props Patricia uses in her exotic Oriental act and was taken aboard the yacht with some of her personal belongings.

According to the defense, Mee picked up the sword and advanced menacingly toward Patricia at the height of a lovers' quarrel in the cabin of the yacht Satira, Patricia's stage name.,

It was expected the defense would try to show that Mee was excitable and emotionable—a move the prosecution will attempt to block through introduction of affidavits from Mee's wife and other persons who knew him.

CALL 60 WITNESSES

It was learned the slain lawyer's wife, Mary, sent along a statement from Chicago that she knew Mee to be calm and unexcitable.

About 60 prosecution and defense witnesses have been summoned to Havana.

Vatican Given Report On 'Miracle of Roses'

STOCKPORT, England, Oct. 8 (INS)—Details of Stockport's "yellow rose mystery" have been forwarded to the Vatican.

Rev. James Turner said 22 of the roses purchased from a florist have thrived on a statue of the Virgin Mary for five months without water or care and called it the "work of God."

The strange circumstances surrounding the flowers, which ordinarily should have died without care, is making Stockport a center of interest. Visitors stream into the town in north-central England for a look at the rose cluster.

The roses were placed on the statue in St. Mary's Church May 4 by Pauline Byrne.

Virtually every parishioner keeps a daily check on the condition of the roses.

Fr. Turner declared he would not call it a miracle at this stage but said ability of the roses to remain alive without showing any signs of decay indicated "something above nature" was involved.

Theft of 65 watches, valued at more than $1500, from the parked car of Otto D. Stranskey, a New York salesman for the Ransie Watch Co., was being investigated today by Malden police.

De Bartolo Waits Back Pay Ruling

Pvt. Michael DeBartolo, 23, Mattapan soldier who once was sentenced to life imprisonement on a charge of desertion, was home today for the first time in five years, eagerly awaiting a decision on whether or not he's going to get $4000 in back pay.

DeBartolo was all set to shed his uniform at Fort Jay, N. Y., but balked when asked to sign a general discharge.

The discharge, while containing "honorable provisions," would pay him for the 10 months he spent in Army prison but not for the two years he claims he was wandering around Italy an amnesia victim.

Officers at Fort Jay expressed surprise when DeBartolo declined to settle for anything except a straight honorable discharge. They said the Army gives out four types of discharges and it is not up to an enlisted man to say what kind he'll take.

On arriving here from New York, DeBartolo said he had refused to sign on advice of his counsel, Francis E. Kelly, who was among those who greeted him at the airport.

He has seven days' leave before going back to learn the Army's final decision on his discharge. Meanwhile, he is being given a round of parties by his Boston friends.

Knife-Wielder Aided by Wife In Robbing Weymouth Cabbie

With his wife calmly looking on, a 22-year-old Weymouth man held a knife at the throat of a cab driver in that town early today the driver reported, robbed him of a small amount of money and then stole the cab.

Victim of the holdup, who told police he had often been hired by the Weymouth couple, was Robert Frazier, 22, of Keith st., Weymouth. Frazier said he was hired at Weymouth Landing early today and had driven only a few blocks when he felt a knife against the back of his neck and was ordered to halt the cab.

The passenger then demanded the money. When Frazier was slow in handing over his wallet, the knife was pressed into his neck, he said. The young wife, who remained silent during the holdup, emptied the wallet of $4 and threw it back at the driver.

He was then ordered to get out, and the couple drove away. An hour later police found the cab abandoned in Salem st., Rockland.

Police, believing the couple may have hidden at the home of friends in that section, started a house-to-house search.

Frazier identified the couple. He said he had saved $17 of the company's money, which was hidden in his shirt pocket.

Divorcee, Her 'Ex' Held After Triangle Knifing

HAVERHILL, Oct. 7—Gwendolyn Roberta, 23, pretty brunette divorcee of North Andover, who allegedly used a knife to slice the legs of her ex-husband and his "date" after he stood her up, sat in cozy proximity to him in district court today but the other girl failed to appear.

The missing principal in the triangle was Miss Margaret Mello, 24, of White st., at whose home the carving job was done, according to police.

Seated with Gwendolyn was her divorced husband, Clarence W. Hoyt, 24, of Coral st. He had been arrested on a charge of assault and battery against his ex-wife, who came out of the incident last Sept. 23 with a black eye.

Judge Charles F. Sawyer continued his case, and that of Gwendolyn, who is charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, Oct. 14.

She was released in $500, he in $50.

As they left court together, Gwendolyn announced:

"We are trying to forget the whole incident. It was one of those impulsive things that happen."

Hoyt said there had been no reconciliation—"yet." He also said he had no immediate plans.

He and Miss Mello had been repaired at Hale Hospital. Hoyt was pinked in the left hip, Miss Mello slashed in the hip.

According to police, Gwendolyn had made a date with Hoyt to discuss a reconciliation and when he did not appear she traced him to Miss Mello's home.

Gollum Yearns For Lost Beulah

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8 (INS)—Heiress Beulah Louise Overell, 18, and her former sweetheart, George (Bud) Gollum, 21, went their separate ways today. Gollum, returning yesterday from a "sentimental journey" scenes of the couple's happiness in a 150-mile trip through the near-by mountains, said he had not seen Beulah since their acquittal Sunday of charges of the yacht blast slaying the girl's parents, but he would not believe their romance was off until he heard it from her own lips.

Beulah checked in at a fashionable Beverly Hills hotel, went shopping where she was recognized and stared at by the curious and later conferred with her lawyers. Asked about her apparent coolness toward Bud and when she first realized she no longer loved him, she replied:

"Oh, a series of events at the Bud seemed to pine most. He recounted one scene they had played together in the mountains behind Pasadena. Then returning to reality, he said:

"I won't try to see Louise until she has had time to settle down, and until I get my feet on the ground, too."

False 'Wire' Deepens Attleboro Girl Mystery

ATTLEBORO, Oct. 8—A fake telegram added a note of mystery today to the search for Elizabeth Smith, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Smith, So. Main st., missing from her home since Monday when she left for the movies with a young Marine.

The telegram turned over to police was delivered to the Smiths by a man dressed in civilian clothes, driving a Rhode Island auto. It was datelined New York and read:

"Was married to Jim. Please understand. Love, Betty."

Police said investigation proved the telegram a fraud.

Fearful their daughter was being held against her will, the Smiths said the Marine had borrowed the car of their neighbor, Frederick Babcock, to take Elizabeth out and had failed to return it. The girl had promised to be home by midnight.

She is described as 5 feet 3, 110 pounds, wearing her long brown hair in bangs.

8 HURT IN FLORIDA STORM

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 8 (AP)—A freak windstorm which struck the suburban North Shore section last night sent eight persons to hospitals and did unestimated damage to homes

Asks Freedom for Self-Blinded Youth

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8 (AP)—An attorney has asked federal court for the release of a 24-year-old prisoner he said blinded himself with a hypodermic syringe because:

"I would rather ruin myself for life than ever be confronted again with the temptation to do more forgeries."

Raymond Pace Alexander asked for a writ of habeas corpus for Jerome Poster who Alexander said is blind in the right eye and has only 20 per cent vision in the left after using a syringe to remove the fluid from his eyeballs.

Dr. Frederick S. Baldi, superintendent of Philadelphia county prisons, said, however, that Poster's sight was completely restored at the Philadelphia General Hospital after he was found groping in his cell at Moyamensing Prison.

Plumbers Recover $9000 Lost Diamonds

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8 (AP)—There's a real pay dirt hole on the front lawn of a suburban Wynnewood residence. Out of the hole, three plumbers today took diamonds worth $9000.

The diamonds were set in two rings which disappeared from a bathroom shelf in the home of Mrs. George Laycock. Believing they had dropped down the drain, she hired the plumbers who cut through a drain pipe and took turns holding a sieve until the rings appeared.

College Gives Up Mass Baby-Sit

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 8 (AP)—The University of Oklahoma has abandoned its baby-sitting program—to the relief of student Senator Ferrell Rogers, who first proposed the plan.

The student Senate set up an experimental baby clinic to care for children last Saturday while the parents attended the Oklahoma-Texas Aggie football game. Rogers was named chief baby-sitter and spent the afternoon entertaining 150 children instead of watching the game.

Under a new plan, to give student-parents an opportunity to see games, baby-tenders will be trained by student health service nurses and will care for the children in their homes. The baby-sitters will be paid 50 cents an hour, funds to be provided by a proposed intramural game.

81 Seek Council Posts, 16 School

With only a few hours remaining today before the deadline for filing substitutes' papers for nominations in the Boston council and school committee contests, the council field stood at 81 and the school committee 16.

Nine council candidates withdrew and the nomination papers of 11 others were protested, which will mean a hearing before the Election Commission and Justice Davis B. Keniston of the Municipal Court, sitting as a Ballot Law Commission.

Council President John B. Kelly filed a complaint against three candidates after his papers had been challenged and Councilor Thomas L. McCormack of Jamaica Plain found his papers challenged by a committee of five.

The only candidate for re-election who will have no opposition in the November election is Councilor Perlie Dyar Chase of the Back Bay.

New Farm Parity Plan Draws Fire

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—The Administration's proposal for modernizing farm parity prices, on which government price supports are based, bumped into quick-forming opposition on Capitol Hill today.

Rep. Pace (D.) of Georgia, a member of the agriculture committee, called it "modernizing in reverse."

"It is an abandonment of basic principles of parity," he said. "It is hard to believe that Congress ever will adopt such a program."

Rep. William S. Hill (R.) of Colorado, another committee member, declared:

"There's going to be a real battle before the parity formula is changed, and I predict there won't be much change in it at all."

The new formula proposed by the Agriculture Dept would boost price parity for livestock and dairy products and lower it on grains and cotton.

Want a Husband? Get the Right Job

If you're looking for a husband, and haven't already met the right man through school or in the home of a friend, your next best bet is to go out and get a job that is, a job with a high marriage ratio.

Airline hostesses, for example, have a better matrimonial batting average than other career girls, while school teachers and librarians end up far too often in spinsterhood.

Learn about your chances of getting married, girls, in the article, "Jobs That Get Husbands," which will appear in next Sunday's American Weekly, magazine issued with the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Some opposition was expected to the poultryless and eggless day from the poultry industry.

Malcolm McCabe, executive director of the Mass. Retail Grocers Ass'n, said the proposal would disrupt the poultry industry.

"Chicken hatcheries have started to refuse hatching eggs," McCabe said, "in anticipation of a slump in poultry demand. If this trend continues, the price of eggs will drop temporarily as hatching reach the consumers' market, but later shortages of both hens and eggs will result."

"In attempting to solve one problem, Washington is merely creating another," McCabe declared.

Luckman, Distillers Discuss 60-Day Closing

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—The Citizens Food Committee formally requested the nation's distillers today to close down for 60 days to save 10,000,000 bushels of grain.

Industry members indicated the reply at a late afternoon conference would be a somewhat reluctant "yes."

Charles Luckman, chairman of the Citizens Food Committee, arranged to meet with approximately 125 top officials of the liquor industry today to discuss the proposed shutdown.

and the lovely Donna. While Donna was at Atlantic City, participating for the top beauty award, she kept in constant touch with Nate.

Very personal letters and telegrams, expressing her devotion to the 30-year-old Chicagoan, were signed "with all my love, Donna."

Other excerpts from letters were "too personal to mention," said Mrs. Borin, but "they will be all the evidence I need for a divorce."

In their last divorce action, the Borins charged one another with adultery, but neither could convince a judge, or a jury, that he or she was free of blame. The divorce was never granted, so Mrs. Borin felt she had a right to return to her former home in Chicago.

DONNA WALKS OUT

She tried to contact her husband all day yesterday, with no results. Apartment house personnel said that Donna walked through the lobby, was about to enter the elevator when someone whispered in her ear. She turned on her heels and stormed out of the lobby, they said.

In the Shore home on Auburn st., West End, Donna's father, Morris, said:

"She said she was taking it easy in Chicago and planned to go on to Miami next Month."

He said Donna had always wanted to crash the movies and work at a bank proved too dull, so she went to Miami and a place in the sun.

How to get more heat and save oil!

It may seem a little odd to you for an oil company to spend money telling the public how to save fuel oil! We are doing just that, however, because we think it is acting in the public interest to look forward now to this coming winter, when there may be some shortage of heating oil, especially if the winter is a severe one. Post-war demand for oil products of all kinds is breaking all past records. So is the oil industry's production. But shortages of materials have delayed the building of new producing, refining, and transportation facilities. The race between demand and supply is a close one. That is why we urge you to help stretch the supply, by adopting some or all of the oil-saving steps listed here. And above all . . .

FILL YOUR OIL TANK NOW!

The industry's heating oil storage tanks are now full. There is no place left to "store up" more oil against winter demands except in users' tanks like yours. You can help by having your tank filled now. Then your supplier can refill his tanks and thus have more total oil stored in your area before winter makes transportation more difficult.

WAYS TO MAKE YOUR HEATING PLANT MORE EFFICIENT

Have your oil burner cleaned, adjusted, and all controls checked, by an expert service man.

Clean furnace and chimney flues. Accumulated soot keeps heat from reaching the boiler and wastes fuel.

Install an automatic stack draft control if you don't have one. Helps reduce heat loss up the chimney.

Be sure furnace and pipes through cellar are insulated. Keep the heat in the steam or water till it reaches radiators!

Insulate hot water storage tank. It's a job you can probably do yourself.

WAYS TO SAVE FUEL WITHOUT EXPENSE

Start burner as late in the season as you can without great discomfort or danger to health.

Keep your thermostat set a few degrees lower than usual. You will be surprised how much fuel you can save without any real discomfort.

Set thermostat down an extra 10 or 15 degrees at night . . . and when you're going out for several hours.

Keep window shades down at night, and on shady sides of the house in daytime.

Don't heat unused rooms. Close them off and shut off radiators in them.

Watch doors and windows. Close bedroom doors at night. Don't open windows needlessly wide.

Watch your cellar temperature. If it's too warm, insulate hot pipes, furnace, hot water tank.

Keep fireplace flues closed except when actually in use. Open chimneys lose a lot of heat.

Check radiator valves through the house; repair or replace them where needed.

Maintain proper humidity. Adds to comfort at lower temperature. Keep pans of water near radiators, or get automatic room humidifiers.

THINGS TO DO TO YOUR HOUSE

Weatherstrip all outside doors and windows. It's a job you can do yourself.

Seal doors of unused rooms with ordinary gummed tape—especially the attic door.

Insulate your home, at least under the roof. Adds summertime comfort besides saving fuel now. Also adds to value of your property.

Insulate cold walls adjoining garages or other unused rooms.

Calk frames and sills of outside windows and doors—especially in older houses.

Tack sheets of bright-surface foil on wall behind radiators to reflect heat back into the room.

YOURS FREE! No matter where you buy your oil, we'll be glad to send you a booklet "20 WAYS TO SAVE MONEY ON HOME HEATING." This is a handy, permanent record of fuel-saving ideas. Just drop a postcard today to Mr. J. C. Richdale, 378 Stuart Street, Boston 17, Mass.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

(Copyright, 1947, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

DURING THE WAR, a small group of newspapermen and publicists in this country warned the nation that this country was buying itself an enemy. They were attacked as Fascists; smeared as unpatriotic; in some instances even regarded as seditionists. Some of them were indicted and tried.

The fact is that we did buy ourselves an enemy and that they have now declared themselves as such by a public manifesto signed in Poland and they have opened an office in Belgrade to do us damage. The purchase price was $11,681,000,000. That is what we gave to Soviet Russia as a gift. We have given her satellites and additional $1,287,611,000 as gifts.

Altogether, the United States poured $66,000,000,000 into Europe and elsewhere assisting her Allies during the war. No country assisted the United States. Lend-lease is the only instance of any return whatsoever, a total of $7,811,000,000 of reverse lend-lease against this country's contribution of $18,631,000,000.

Soviet Russia contributed a mere $2,213,000 of reverse lend-lease against America's aid to her of $11,681,000,000, the Russian return being a mere token.

THE UNITED STATES put up 70 per cent of UNRRA, amounting to $2,279,000,000; the Russians did not put up anything. Yet UNRRA was so manipulated that few of the peoples of Europe know what the United States did for them and many of them, particularly in the countries behind the iron curtain, believe that it was really Soviet Russia that assisted them. Every effort of this country to stabilize the economic life of Europe has met with antagonism. The most recent, the Marshall Plan which calls for a charitable contribution of at least $15,000,000,000, and probably $22,000,000,000 at great sacrifice to the American people, is being attacked everywhere in Europe and Asia as "American Imperialism" as "Dollar Slavery." Even our compassion is misrepresented by Soviet Russia and her agents.

These are the cold facts of our purchase of an enemy. Dollar diplomacy, as practiced from 1938 to 1947, defeated Hitler but brought us face to face with a greater, a more dangerous, an equally if not more unscrupulous enemy.

If you wish to appraise the value of $66,000,000,000, compare it with the total national income of the American people, which was $71,000,000,000 in 1937, $64,000,000,000 in 1938, $70,000,000,000 in 1939. It was as low as $40,000,000,000 in 1932.

In other words what this country gave to the world is not buy by any system of calculation. It is the irreplaceable natural resources of our land and the labor of our people. And we shall probably never get one cent of it back.

If to that are added the contributions under the Marshall Plan America's gift to its allies so-called friendly and peace-loving nations will come close to $100,000,000,000.

WHEN TO THAT is added the fact that the war cost us $300,000,000,000, it stands clear that this comparatively medium sized nation of 145,000,000 people has been handing out a tremendous amount of its wealth and that a very large part of the human race has been the willing recipient of its charity.

In fact there seems to be no objection to bleeding this country white until perhaps we die of productive anemia.

All the propaganda that comes out of Washington, London or Paris will not offset these figures. The efforts of the Luckman committee must be balanced against these figures.

The Communists, led by Russia, have met in Poland to reorganize the Third International and to wage a war of propaganda, deceit, conspiracy and intrigue against the United States.

They have now stepped into the open. They say that there will be no compromise.

Those nations which now say to us that it must be American dollars or they will go Communist have as much at stake as we have. They refuse to strengthen themselves by going to work. England is on a prolonged holiday. France is hoarding. Italy is playing with fire.

All demand that this country subsidize them as we subsidized Russia in her war with Germany. Why should we pay these subsidies? What is to be gained?

We were told that if we did not subsidize Stalin, Hitler would get us. Now it is Stalin who is after us.

Eats Meat First Time in 26 Years

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 8 (AP) — Mickey Schuster, who fed through a tube inserted in his stomach for 26 of his 28 years, ate a pork chop dinner last night and then nibbled on a chocolate-covered cherry.

"It's wonderful to be able to eat like other people," said Mickey, who is recovering from a series of operations that enabled him to swallow food normally for the first time since he swallowed a can of lye at the age of 2.

"I could taste the food before," he added, "but I couldn't swallow it. That way I worked up a terrific urge for it."

Mickey had only three inches of esophagus. Normal length is nine inches.

As he nibbled on the cherry, Mickey said wistfully:

"You know, I kind of miss that tube in my stomach. It's been there so long I feel funny without it."

War Dead Memorial Rites Tickets Available Friday

Distribution of guest tickets for the inspiring memorial services at Boston Arena on Sunday, Oct. 19, for the valiant war dead of World War II, will be on a first-come, first served basis, it was announced today by the committee.

The tickets will be available starting Friday at Boston Arena, Boston Garden and the Boston Veterans Office at the Buddies' Club on Boston Common.

Arrangements have also been made for those who would be unable to apply in person at the three centers for those who live out of town.

They may obtain tickets by mailing their request, enclosing a self-addressed envelope to the Memorial Editor, Box 228, Boston, Mass.

Plans for the memorial, inspired by announcements from Washington that the first return of bodies from overseas cemeteries is scheduled Friday on the Pacific Coast and in New York Oct. 26, plans are being worked out by a committee composed of representatives from all walks of life.

HUB GROUPS COMBINE

With the Hearst newspapers in Boston co-operating, religious leaders, service groups, veteran and civic organizations are to have leading parts in the memorial, climax of which will be a military procession from Irvington Street Armory to the Arena.

Simultaneously with the exercises at the Arena, other groups are to hold exercises on historic Boston Common at the city's war memorial plaque to those who made the supreme sacrifice.

The procession will get under way at 2 o'clock and proceed from Irvington st. to Huntington ave. to Massachusetts ave. to the Arena in St. Botolph st.

RITE ON COMMON

At the same time the indoor services start at 3 p. m. in the Arena, a wreath will be placed on the Boston Common plaque, three miles away, as an artillery unit from the Massachusetts National Guard fires a salute and "Taps" are sounded.

Honorary chairman of the committee will be Gov. Bradford by appointment of Acting Mayor John B. Hynes, active chairman. Acting Mayor Hynes also selected for his immediate committee Frank T. Pedonti, supervisor of Boston's graves registrations; Col. David J. Brickley, director of the city's veterans services and Maj.-Gen. David I. Rose, wartime commander of the Yankee Division and present superintendent of city supplies.

Others on the committee include Charles Allen, commander, state dept. of the American Veterans of World War II; Anthony Tieso, state comander of the Disabled American Veterans; Jackson J. Holtz, state commander of the Jewish War Veterans, James John J. Sullivan, state commander of the American Legion; William Hallisey, state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; Mansfield, state commander of the United Spanish War Veterans; Commandant Michael DeMarco of the Marine Corps League; Col. Fred E. Pereira, executive secretary of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery, and H. Guy Watts, national secretary of the Yankee Division Veterans' Ass'n.

THEY WORRY NEEDLESSLY

THE INCREASED COST of going to college disturbs many Americans, including directors of the Office of Education in Washington.

One of the latter, Dr. John Dale Russell, discloses that a recent survey showed that universities are depending more and more on student fees to pay their bills, and that these fees, which used to account for about a third of the typical institution's income, now provide a good half of the total expenditures.

"I gravely fear," he concludes, "that this trend will limit college opportunities to the children of higher-income families, which is a counter-democratic tendency."

Most of the educators' worries would disappear if these gentlemen ceased to regard the youth of the nation as helpless children and gave them more chances to earn a part of their college tuitions.

There is no reason why the work-study programs, which have been highly successful wherever they have been tried, could not be inaugurated with equally good results in Harvard, Boston University and all other similar schools.

HEALTH MENACE

THE NEW YORK CITY Health Department has found a coal-burning electric power plant to be the source of the soot, smoke and cinder menace which has brought a deluge of complaints from persons afflicted with respiratory diseases.

What about the coal-burning electric power plants in Greater Boston and the railroad locomotives that belch fumes throughout the day and night?

How seriously do they pollute the air, damage public health and affect real estate values?

Modern city planners are increasingly of the opinion that coal-burning should be reduced to a minimum in thickly settled areas by obliging power companies to relocate their plants beyond the limits of business and residential sections and by making it compulsory for railroads to electrify urban equipment.

Of course, the best way to solve the pollution problem in New England is to develop and use the millions of kilowatts of electricity that are being wasted in our shamefully neglected rivers and thus reduce the consumption of coal as much as 75 per cent.

But first we must prove that to our Governors, United States Senators, Congressmen and State legislators, most of whom seem to have no objection to cinder-laden atmospheres, coughing populations and blackened buildings.

FAIRER PLAN

THE PRESENT insurance practice of penalizing motorists for the errors of their neighbors will be abolished if the next session of the Massachusetts Legislature accepts the recommendations of members like Senator Richard H. Lee of Newton.

Instead of assuming that every driver in a designated city or town is a poor risk, as has been the custom for too many years, the new method of determining rates would create three classifications for the whole State, with the best drivers paying the smallest fees.

A minimum rate would be fixed for persons who have not operated their vehicles recklessly or otherwise violated the law in a three-year period.

There would be an intermediate rate, not more than 50 per cent above the minimum, for persons involved in minor mishaps.

The high rate, approximately twice the minimum, would be reserved for those who had operated so as to have caused serious injury to themselves or others.

It is not good government on the part of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts or good business on the part of the insurance companies to force the provenly competent driver in Chelsea or any other city to pay five times as much for a policy as the driver in a small Berkshire town.

ARE YOU AN eldest son or daughter? That is, were you the first child of your parents? How are you doing? It is claimed few eldest sons or daughters achieve greatness. That most do not have as good health as their brothers and sisters. The reason for this situation, it is said, is that when the first child arrives the parents, lacking in experience, do not handle it as well as subsequent children. The first youngster is more or less experimented upon. The parents profit by the mistakes they make with him. So his brothers and sisters profit by same. This is an interesting claim. Am checking on it.

ASKING: Queries from clients. Q—Settle a heated argument in an otherwise peaceful Brooklyn home. What was the title of Clara Bow's first picture? A—Clara made her film debut in that highly exciting silent film "Down To The Sea In Ships." She was 14 years old at the time. Q—My husband claims after the age of three a female horse ceases to be referred to as "a filly" and is called "a mare." I claim a filly does not become a mare until she is five. Let's hear from your horses & women experts. A—The definition of a filly is "a female horse who is four years old or under." Therefore, you are right. The filly is referred to as a mare at five. Q—What do you consider the best war play you ever saw? A—"Journey's End."

PLEASE NOTE: A Californian claims when gambling was on at Tijuana, Mexico, he once made 23 straight passes with the dice at the Foreign Club. Very interesting. PIE: An Alexandria, Va., subscriber, recently returned from an automobile trip, states her party stopped at a place in Clarksburg, W. Va., where the pie, which was "marvelous," was cut into four pieces and sold for 10 cents a piece. GIRLS AND GLASSES: Dorothy Parker's immortal claim that men seldom make passes at girls who wear glasses does not check with the report on that situation made by feminine spectacle wearers who are clients of this department. They say they are called upon to battle the amorous advances of wolves with as much frequency and vigor as girls who do not wear glasses. So much for that. To hand is a communication from a young man of San Francisco who says before he was required to wear glasses he was practically a "wallflower" at dances, so many turn downs did he get. But when he donned spectacles he became very popular, many of the girls saying the glasses were "so becoming." Our Mules & Men experts are investigating this interesting angle.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8—There was so much truth and so little falsehood or error in the appraisal of President Truman, written by Boris Gorbatov and published in the Literary Gazette of Moscow, that General Smith, our ambassador, might have better let it go without a protest. However, inasmuch as he did take notice and thus invite a belligerent retort so like the diplomatic repartee of Hilter and Goebbels, Americans might as well wring from the incident such profit as we can.

Westbrook Pegler

Surely no honest American would want to fight a war to prove that Harry S. Truman doesn't like bow ties or wear his pants two inches shorter "than ordinary."

He does wear bow ties and, while there is nothing in the Bureau of Standards fixing "ordinary," the President's tailor is the only one with an interest worth a quarrel on length of his pants.

Until 1941, when he bloomed forth a field marshal, Stalin wore his stuffed into his boots.

BY COMPARISON with Stalin or Molotov, Truman has indeed a serene face, rather on the "good-looking" side in the American view.

While President Truman is distinctly superior to the average American, that hypothetical, composite fool, the dupe and protege of the late Roosevelt and Henry Wallace, the fact is that the average American does flatter himself that he and Truman are about alike.

Truman and Alf Landon have a great deal in common, and this includes manners and psychology.

Landon despised Roosevelt, not in the hateful sense of the word but as a contemptible fellow who had courage only when his gang was with him, a tricky shyster who would have had his nose bled many a time in a public school yard in his childhood, and as an unspeakable boor.

Unquestionably, Mr. Truman has the same private opinion. He is a manly, masculine country boy who never had a governess or family coachman to take his part, came of much better family stock and developed a natural politeness from his infancy.

Roosevelt knew the forks and the wine glasses but the only men who would say today that they found him kind, considerate and affectionate are sycophants.

So, if it could be said that in this respect President Truman was a typical or average American, we might, all of us, be pleased. In sadness, not, in indignation, we have to say it isn't true.

TO THE MISFORTUNE of all Americans, including those who do not realize as much, it is true that Truman, until as late as a year ago, did love to call himself a modest pupil of Roosevelt.

He persisted in the morbid political custom of laying wreaths of flowers and rhetoric on the grave long after the most elaborate demands of American obsequy would have let him change from black tie to something gaudy and go bowling and salooning with the boys in the normal way.

"He stated that the postwar world does not please him," Comrade Gorbatov wrote. Anyone dispute that? "He is dissatisfied with Europe." O.K.? "If Greece still consoles him, new democracies definitely upset him." We have long permitted the Bolsheviki to apply the term "democracy" to their own and kindred tyrannies. Roosevelt even described them as "peace-loving nations" and victims of "aggression." Thus Gorbatov has something in his favor when he says that new "democracies" in Europe upset Mr. Truman.

We know what he means by "new democracies" and they do upset not only President Truman but the rest of us.

"He made some attacks on the U. S. S. R., not naming it, however." Right or wrong? He said the U. S. A. is "determined to remain powerful in a military way." Certainly that charge doesn't insult our President.

IN A SIDELONG WAY, the comrade next refers to Truman as "this new apostle of imperialism."

This is unkind but not untrue. By our charity this nation is more likely to be done in, eventually, than by our greed.

It is the enlarged photograph of a child starved by the same Communists who in New York flatter Henry Wallace, that urges Americans irresistibly into more and more dangerous positions in other people's countries.

No "Wall Street cartel" could raise a dime by popular subscription or persuade or compel a single American soldier to invade the Balkans or the Near East for business reasons.

Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 8 (INS)—I must confess I find Dore Schary's Plans for his picture, "The Unknown Soldier," exciting. The bare idea, bought from a telegram sent by a man named Henry Grunewald, was worth $5000 to Dore. He told me he was so afraid he might lose out that he sent a check immediately.

The story is based on the War Department's decision to bring back nine heroes from each of the war zones. Thirteen writers were summoned by Schary to discuss the stories to be used, and each episode will be made by a top RKO producer, director and star, and written by a top flight writer.

Dore told me Cary Grant has consented to be in one of the episodes, Robert Mitchum in another, also Robert Ryan. An Irishman, a Jew, a Negro, an Italian and the Japanese-American of whom Gen. Mark Clark spoke, will each have his heroic story told. Dore is working very closely with the War Dept.

WAIT UNTIL you see Spencer Tracy in "Cass Timberlane." Boy, does he put over a performance that you'll love! He is so good I am sending him fan letters. I knew the picture was super because Clark Gable did a rave, but I didn't know how super until I invited myself to a sneak preview.

Spencer Tracy

Now there is another movie set for Spence, "Mr. Coronado," the tale of an Arizona farmer and a Mexican refugee. The script is all ready for Leon Gordon to produce after my friend Mr. Tracy finishes "State of the Union."

I WANT to wish my friend, Jim Gleason, every lucky break with a new stage show he will produce, "Watch Closely." He is a fine man who has known great sorrow in the loss of his son and later his adored wife, Lucille. But he has never worn his heart on his sleeve.

Now, as soon as Jimmy completes his role in "Return of October" with Glenn Ford at Columbia, he and Jerry Horwin will produce this new show on the coast with magic man John Calvert in the starring role. As you may guess from the title, "Watch Closely" is a comedy-drama about magic tricks.

Gleason knows his stage. Years and years ago his comedy, "Is Zat So," was a big hit—and zat's so.

DAVID NIVEN now in England making "Bonnie Prince Charlie" for Alexander Korda, writes: "I have just been through one of the most discouraging scenes in my life. I was supposed to be arousing the Highlander clans to pillage England.

"I was making an impassioned plea about the perfidy of the English. They were supposed to cheer me, but instead they all started giving me dirty looks and muttering under their breath. I thought it was the failure of my oratory, but instead it was a bunch of former English Commandos I had served with, and I was being framed."

David plans to be here for the Christmas premier of "The Bishop's Wife." He says he has no romances and didn't even see Rita Hayworth. Well, that's his bad luck.

THERE HAVE BEEN so many rumors about Madeleine Carroll coming to this country you really have to take them all with a grain of salt.

But now she has a definite radio commitment for Nov. 13 in New York, and she writes to Phil Berg she will head immediately for Hollywood to make a picture.

Just what the picture will be, Miss Carroll herself will decide, but this is the first definite word we have had.

JANE POWELL, who came back from the hospital to finish up the scenes for "Luxury Liner" with George Brent, was saying good-by to George.

"What do you want, Jane?" he asked. "I'll buy you anything you say."

"Oh, a skunk, I guess," said Jane, as a joke.

So next day a skunk was delivered at the Powell house. That reminds me, I understand Jane will probably do "Peg O' My Heart" in a musical version for Joe Pasternak. Ray McCarey, who wanted it for his daughter, hasn't cleared the rights, as I understand it.

ELEANOR PARKER and Bert Friedlob returned home today after what Eleanor says was the most frightening experience of her life. The pilot awakened them in the middle of the night to tell them they were in danger. She told me that they were almost in the water when the engines on the plane in which she and Bert were returning home from Europe suddenly started up after stopping in mid-ocean. They were five hours from land. But that didn't keep her and Bert from coming back here by plane.

She's been ordered to bed by her doctors and will stay there for a few days until she gets over the shock.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: The Bill Burtons are expecting a baby in April. He's Dick Haymes' manager and she's Margo Woode, the actress.

Mrs. Lee Tracy underwent a major abdominal operation today at Good Samaritan Hospital.

The lawyers of the Johnny Weissmullers met to try and get together on a settlement. So far, no luck.

Kenneth Hopkins, of the Nals, has asked singer Amanda Lane to wear his bonnets for life. He flew back to New York for his answer.

Walter Winchell arrives on the West Coast this week to present a $100,000 check to UCLA for a clinic to be called the Damon Runyon Cancer Laboratory.

Carole Landis writes to say her husband, Horace Schmidlapp, will take the Katherine Dunham show to London and that he'll join her there the last part of this month. She says June Clyde and T. Freeland are constantly together, and everyone believes they will remarry. T is directing Carole in her English picture.

Of all things! Madman Muntz is seen everywhere in New York with June Lockhart, Gene Lockhart's pretty, young daughter.

Cornel Wilde looking anything but like an invalid with Pat Knight at H. D. Bover's party. Another interesting combination was Joan Davis and Jack Melvin.

That very cute little man doing the night spots with Ann Miller these evenings is her father from Houston, Texas. Her parents are divorced and Ann hasn't seen him in 12 years. They danced every dance at the Florentine Gardens last night.

Such a lovely evening at the home of Adele Dillingham O'Connor, Genia, who designs clothes when she isn't indulging in her favorite pastime, cooking, prepared the dinner, which was delicious.

Bill O'Connor was in New York, so Adele decided to have a few of us for dinner—Nadia and Reggie Gardiner, Kitty and Mervyn Le Roy, Ann and Paul MacNamara, Wynn Rocomora and Lewis Brown, who told me he's writing a book called "The Devil Is Wiser," on Hollywood.

The O'Connors have such a cute house. It should really be in Town and Country. Adele herself used to be on Harper's Bazaar and is one of the most stunning women in our town.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8—Sam Goldwyn Jr.'s intention to waltz down the aisle with Karen Gaylord, one of the beautiful Goldwyn Girls, has Sam, Sr. explosive. (Karen is one of the thriftiest of all showgirls and the Hollywood gag is that the wealthy young Sam wants to marry her "for her money.")

Nancy Oakes de Marigny, central figure in the Nassau murder mystery, faces another operation in a Mexico City hospital . . . The cafe society clique hears that Harry Cushing, 4th, is flying in from Hollywood to discuss his marital woes with his family—after a squabble with his brand-new bride, starlet Georgette Winsor . . . Fan mail to movie stars has dropped off almost 50 per cent and the moguls are mystified. (Not to say worried) . . . Young actress Peggy Ann Garner and Joan Fontaine's stepson, Bob Dozier, are a junior romance item . . . One of the town's better known night clubs, which shuttered for the summer is answering a lot of questions for Uncle Sam quietly about the $20,000 in taxes which wasn't handed in.

CID CAESAR and John Shelton are set for "Make Mine Manhattan" . . . Couturier Sophie's son, Jay Rossbach, is swooning over Marilyn Buford (the former Miss America) and vice versa . . . The whole town industry is watching with great interest Olivia de Havilland's forthcoming suit against her agents, Berg-Allenberg. If she wins, it will be as important to the film colony as her suit against Warner Brothers (also a matter of principle rather than money) several years ago . . . Laura Leslie, the vocalist with Sammy Kaye's band, will murmur "I do" to a diamond mine owner . . . There's a feature story in Nanette Fredericks, the ex-Billy Rose lovely, who will be New York's first "sandwich girl" — advertising Roger Stearns' 1-2-3 Club luncheon by strolling Madison ave. Curley Howard, the hairless member of the Three Stooges, is out for some kind of record. He's getting married again.

JOAN DAVIS has decided to trek to the altar with Danny Litman, her friends say. He's a Chicago lumber mogul . . . James C. Petrillo (that man again!) is all set to forbid the making of any new phonograph records after January 1 as part of his battle against the disc jockeys . . . All the major parties I know are having their artists make new records by the hundreds to establish a backlog before the new law comes . . . Random House will publish Elliott Paul's new book of memoirs in 1948. It'll be called "A Ghost Town on the Yellowstone" . . . American showgirl Dorothea Pinto, now in Panama, has the son of an ex-president down there in a spin . . . William Saroyan became so enamored of the way a group of little theater actors in California performed his "The Time of Your Life," that he has promised them they can produce the world premiere of his new opus, "Sam Ego's House."

A RECORDING director discovered that in these times it doesn't pay to slug your wife in public. He beat her up in front of their residence in the East 60's and as a result, received the most terrible of all punishments: they were ordered to leave their apartment the very next day! . . . Audrey "Judi" Keon, the glamor deb of the season, is serious about Yale lad Bill Nettleton.

THE AMUSEMENT INDUSTRY will put on a terrific show Oct. 30 at Madison Square Garden for the benefit of the New York University-Bellevue Medical Center. First stars to sign up for it were Ray Bolger, Milton Berle and Joe E. Lewis, to give you a rough idea of the talent involved . . . The Duncan Stewarts (he's the artist, she was Puddy Suit of the Broadway shows) are lullabying a baby boy . . . WASHINGTON, Oct. 8—If I only had a lounge suit I could go to Princess Elizabeth's wedding.

I don't exactly know what a lounge suit is but the lord chamberlain said they would be acceptable. And anything that's all right with the lord chamberlain is all right with me.

It should be very restful and homey with all the earls, dukes, and rajahs lounging around in lounge suits. The only thing that bothers me is the added announcement that the loungers will also wear top hats and bowlers.

If the English lounge suits are anything like the beaten-up pajamas in which I do my loafing the wedding guests are going to look very peculiar indeed. In our set we practically never wear a nightgown with a derby.

However, it is comforting to know that royalty can be so relaxing. I can just hear one viscount saying to another: "Let's slip on something comfortable and go down to Liz's wedding."

A PILOT on one of our major airlines was giving conniptions to timid passengers with his distorted sense of humor until called off by executive order. He would wait until the going got bumpy, then stroll through the cabin with a book under his arm.

The title, which he kept prominently displayed, was: "How to Fly in 20 Lessons."

THE NATIONAL PRESS CLUB CHORUS, under direction of Dr. Reginald Werrenrath, has reopened for the fall season. Recruiting bulletins, pasted up all over the club, read: "You will be welcome whether you are an experienced singer or not. There are no try-outs or eliminations. The only qualification is that you enjoy singing."

The only qualification for anyone who listens is that he be stone deaf.

I WISH to apologize to an unknown lady, wherever she may be, for an episode that happened the other night, and also to explain what must have seemed like a startling phenomenon.

In the course of attending the World Series in New York I decided to give a little attention to my cultural side, too, and went to see Miss Helen Hayes in a play called "Happy Birthday." This is a very educational play in which Miss Hayes falls off a bar and conks her old man on the head with a bottle.

I did not go out immediately at intermission but sat wondering why Miss Hayes did not go the whole hog and join Olsen and Johnson so she could whack somebody with a board. But after a while I got up to go out for a smoke.

The theater was very dark but in the gloom I recognized my old sidekick, Rex Smith, coming down the aisle. I was so glad to see a familiar face—even his—that I ran forward and grasped him warmly by the hand.

A woman sitting on the aisle suddenly let out an unearthly screech and clapped her hands to her head. It seems that, undetected by me, Mr. Smith had been carrying a paper cup full of water—and when I squeezed his hand the water shot high in the air and cascaded down on the noggin of the screeching lady!

HISTORY REPEATS itself Dept.: Billy Reardon, distinguished nestor of the Stork Club, used to be the dancing partner of Mrs. Irene Castle back about the time of the first World War. Billy then went into the Army, which sort of interfered with his terpsichorean activities.

Last week he emerged from hoofing retirement to dance at a benefit with Muriel Pershing, daughter-in-law of Gen. Pershing. Observed Mr. Reardon: "Pershing tossed me around in 1917 and now I toss his daughter-in-law around in 1947."

Newsprint Men Urged to Defy U. S.

By CHARLES B. SEIB

TORONTO, Oct. 8 (INS)—A U. S. Congressman gave Canadian newsprint makers the thinly-veiled advice that they ignore recent U. S. anti-trust subpoenas and tell the Justice Dept. to "go to hell."

The suggestion, delivered by Rep. Clarence Brown (R.) of Ohio, head of a special House committee investigating the newsprint shortage, brought from Edgar A. Drew, prime minister of Ontario, the response:

"Don't be surprised if we carry out the exact suggestion you have made."

Brown made his point by telling an assemblage of U. S. and Canadian publishers, newsprint manufacturers and government officials about a wages-and-hours suit brought against one of his Ohio papers several years ago.

Brown said that when he learned of the suit, he told the Wages and Hours Division of the Dept. of Labor that "you and the whole U. S. government can go to hell" and added:

"I do not want to be disrespectful, but if you can draw a lesson or a moral or a suggestion from the action I took, you are welcome."

Brown's remarks were made at a banquet which climaxed a day of inquiry into the causes and possible cures of the U. S. newsprint shortage.

Frequent mention was made by both Brown and angry Canadian paper makers of the Dept. of Justice subpoenas recently issued in an anti-trust action against companies affiliated with Canadian companies.

The firms involved are fighting the injunctions which call for records in Canada. They claim, with Drew's support, that the injunctions go beyond the territorial powers of the U. S.

Drew declared in his reply to Brown:

"Neither the Ontario government nor this industry has anything to hide from anyone here in Canada or outside."

He offered Brown's committee any information needed on Canadian newsprint operations, but declared he considered the Justice Dept. action extremely ill-advised. He added:

"I must say in my official as well as my personal capacity that I would be extremely disappointed if any Canadian company complied with a subpoena to produce its records in the United States."

Sure We Save USED FAT on the 20th Century!

says New York Central 20th Century Chief, JOSEPH RUSCH

Even in the limited space of a train galley, it's a New York Central rule that used fats be saved. Why? Because, folks, our government says every pound of used fats should be saved to help relieve a world shortage that is still critical. Last July, for example, our dining cars and commissaries turned in almost five thousand pounds. And we're keeping at it. So if you're not saving fats as regularly as you used to, won't you get back in the habit? Every drop is still needed!

BOSTON SOCIALITES are complying wholeheartedly with the meatless Tuesday program. The Junior League's main course yesterday was creamed eggs and Mrs. Donald Born of Cambridge told us she was having cheese souffle for dinner—"just what the President had for lunch," she said. Many others said they were having fish, hearty vegetable chowder or omelet for the main dish.

Mrs. Born topped off her dinner with chocolate sponge, one of the favorite desserts of her children and a delectable recipe from the Cordon Bleu cookbook by Mrs. Dione Lucas, famous Parisian cook. As a matter of fact Mrs. Born and her friends who subscribed to the cooking lectures by Mrs. Lucas last spring are looking forward to the new series beginning Oct. 17 at the Boston Consolidated Gas Co. auditorium.

Mrs. Charles Howard

Mrs. Lucas, a graduate of the famous Cordon Bleu School in Paris, stresses tempting menus based on inexpensive and plentiful foods cooked in the inimitable French manner, a help to every housewife trying to keep on a budget nowadays.

Mrs. Leigh Hoadley of Cambridge is ticket chairman for the series of five Friday mornings to benefit the Smith College Anniversary fund. Other committee members are Mrs. Born Mrs. David Bailey, Mrs. Charles Howard, Mrs. Clifton H. Wheeler, Mrs. Edward S. Kelley, Mrs. Wallace Lincoln Pierce, Miss Elizabeth Farnum, Mrs. C. Chauncey Gray, Mrs. Lawrence Marshall, Mrs. Armstrong Jeppson, Mrs. Henry R. Silberman, Mrs. Parker Wheatley, Mrs. Charles F. Toppan, Mrs. Charles F. Walcott and a number of others.

A ROMANCE that began in the land of the Sphinx is revealed in announcement by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Marshall Wright of Milton of the engagement of their daughter Priscilla to Francis Allen, son of Dr. and Mrs. Francis C. Allen of Philadelphia.

Both Priscilla and her fiance have recently been stationed at the American Embassy at Cairo where she was a secretary and he an attache. The future bride graduated from Winsor School and Vassar 1944 and belongs to the Junior League and Vincent Club. Before working in Cairo she was at the American Embassy in Brussels, Belgium.

Mr. Allen majored in Egyptology at the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago after graduating from Princeton in 1932. He went to Egypt with the Harvard University-Boston Museum of Fine Arts expedition and during the war was a field representative of the OWI in Egypt.

THE MARRIAGE of Jean Thorndike Eddy to Robert Wolf will take place Saturday afternoon at the Second Congregational Church, West Newton, followed by a reception at Brae Burn Country Club.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. Clifford R. Eddy of West Newton and granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Augustus L. Thorndike of Boston. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jean Murray Wolf of Philadelphia. Miss Eddy graduated from Mt. Holyoke and has been working with the Family Service Bureau in Newton. Matinees Are Advanced To Columbus Day

Foreseeing the annual demand by theater patrons for matinee performances on holidays, the general management of the Shubert theaters is cancelling next week's Wednesday matinee performance for the Wilbur's "The Druid Circle," featuring Leo G. Carroll; and "Sweethearts," starring Bobby Clark at the Shubert, and the Thursday matinee of the Plymouth Theater's Thomas Mitchell-starring play, "An Inspector Calls."

All three attractions are moving their usual midweek afternoon showings ahead to Columbus Day. Tickets for the cancelled matinees will be honored at the Monday afternoon performances.

OLD SOUTH SCREEN BILL

"The King's Jester," a new Italian film dramatization of Verdi's opera, "Rigoletto," is set to top the new Old South screen bill, beginning Friday. Completing the accent-on-music bill is the French-made "First Film Concert," with the celebrated singer, Elisabeth Schumann, the Russian pianist Alexander Brailowsky and Jacques Thibaud, the distinguished French violinist, heading the roster of musical artists.

'An Inspector Calls' Bolstered By Fine Mitchell Portrayal

By PEGGY DOYLE

A clairvoyant police inspector and coincidence's long arm (and what a reach you have, gran'ma!) play hob with the smug security of a prosperous middle-class British household in "An Inspector Calls," the J. B. Priestley play which bowed in at the Plymouth last night.

The occasion was the American premiere of last year's popular London production which the Old Vic Company presented with Ralph Richardson.

Thomas Mitchell, whose last stage appearance here and on Broadway was in the heartily acclaimed "Fly Away Home," returns to the theater for the first time since Hollywood claimed him a dozen years ago to play the title role.

SHREWD THRILLER

"An Inspector Calls" is a shrewdly contrived thriller with three really slick "curtains," some excellent support performances, a sagging third act and Thomas Mitchell. It may be profound Priestly . . . to this aisle-sitter it is rather magnificent Mitchell.

On stage throughout most of the play, Mitchell's Inspector Goole (which a lobby-wit suggested be spelled Ghoul) is grimly effective, quietly authoritative. There is none of the sound and fury about him that the Birlings associate with a police inspector, and it is only after they have biddably answered his questions and clinched their guilt, each in his turn, that they wonder at his power over them. Hollywood make-believe may blur the fine skill of some of its stage converts but Mitchell is not one of these.

Melville Cooper, who made his American stage debut in another Priestley play, "Laburnum Grove," and Doris Lloyd, who played the queen in Maurice Evans' modified "Hamlet" here, both Britishers, head the supporting cast of all-English players.

These two play the pompous, ambitious head of the house of Birling and his social-climbing, purse-proud wife, who are triumphantly celebrating their daughter Sheila's (Rene Ray) engagement to the socially well-placed Gerald Croft (John Buckmaster) when the inspector's call plunges them into a limbo of remorse and terror.

INTEREST LAGS

There are varied reactions when the inspector's identity, even his reality, are under fire. It is here that the play becomes too discursive and interest lags. There is a third-act curtain but it is one of those too-little-and-too-late measures to jack up Mr. Priestley's not too sturdy latter-day allegory. The time is 1912 and the place is Brumley, an industrial city in England's North Midlands.

Cooper and Miss Lloyd are excellent, as is the specially imported Miss Ray, who learns a hard lesson from the inspector. John Buckmaster, whose mother is actress Gladys Cooper, is first-rate as the fiance. As the Junior Birling, John Merivale, who bears a striking resemblance to his father, the late Philip Merivale, occasionally overacts but redeems himself in the latter half.

Cedric Hardwicke, noted actor-director, has skilfully staged the Stewart Chaney-designed production which Courtney Burr and Lassor H. Grosberg, 24-year-old ex-Bostonian and former Harvard student, are producing.

COMING TO PLYMOUTH

"Eastward in Eden," the love story of the poet Emily Dickinson by Dorothy Gardner, is now in rehearsal with Onslow Stevens and Beatrice Straight in the leading roles. The Nancy Stern production will be seen here for two weeks at the Plymouth Theater, beginning Monday, Nov. 3.

LAFFMOVIE PROGRAM

A "Charlie Chaplin Festival," featuring the comedian's outstanding two-reelers, "Easy Street," "The Adventurer," "The Cure" and "The Immigrant," is set for the Laffmovie Theater, beginning tomorrow.

BABY BACALL, as the columnists tag the sultry Lauren without benefit of quotation marks, is teamed with her off-screen husband, Humphrey Bogart, in "Dark Passage," due on the Met screen tomorrow.

CANNY CANINE

CHICAGO, Oct. 8 (AP)—Harry Johnson constructed a slot machine which pays off in dog biscuits and thereby solved the problem of how to feed his dog, Sandy, when the master is away.

The snack machine—an upright stand—contains eight dog biscuits and at its base is a wooden trip platform which, when pushed down, ejects a dog biscuit.

Johnson said today that Sandy, a 13-year-old mongrel, figured out the manipulation in 30 minutes.

Asks Hard Penalty For Dog Stealing

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 8 (INS) — Walter J. Dethloff, president of the Animal Rescue League of Boston, Mass., declared today dog stealing and poisoning could be made practically non-existent by providing severe penalties.

Dethloff, addressing delegates to the 71st annual convention of the American Humane Ass'n, warned that dog licensing laws must not mandate humane societies to supply live dogs or cats for experiments or research.

He said:

"I truly believe that if the machinery of enforcement were unhampered by shallow politics, an unco-operative public, especially dog owners, and the lack of courage of humane societies to face realities, we could solve the stray dog problem in every community."

400 Disabled In State Get Jobs

In the first two days of national employ the physically handicapped week now being publicized throughout the country, more than 400 partially disabled persons in Massachusetts have obtained gainful positions, K. V. Minihan, chairman of the state interagency committee for the week, announced today. Its slogan is:

"It is ability not disability that counts."

"Among handicapped persons returned to gainful employment so far this week," said Minihan, "are those with amputations, the deaf, blind, those suffering coronary conditions, epilepsy and other disabilities.

"Some of the types of placements are timekeepers, bench assemblers, stock clerks, light machine operators, meter readers, upholsterers, draftsmen and inspectors."

He urged employers to cooperate.

TAILORED gloves in double-woven cotton are Dawnelle's brand-new idea of hand appeal. Whip-stitched by hand . . . converging rays of contrast stitching draw attention to the precision fit of a nipped-in-wrist . . . a la the trend of a nipped-in-waist. The color-combines feature black and white, brown and beige, chamois and black, and white and black. The tailored white shortie has double-side vents to induce the illusion of small wrist.—R. M.

Keep Hair, Scalp Healthy

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

SOMETIME AGO we received this letter from a reader:

"First of all I want to thank you for sending me the name of the wonderful scalp ointment and tonic. They are simply wonderful and a boon to people with baby-fine textured hair. Thanks a million for all your kindnesses to us would-be-beauts."

These hair-savers do deserve these encomiums. But this ointment and the tonic are just as good for dry, brittle hair as well as reconditioning a sick scalp . . . and for recapturing the hair loveliness which is every man's, woman's and child's heritage. Used on a mere youngster . . . they'll help keep that growing head in tip-top shape.

Hair falls because of dandruff and poor circulation. Hair fades because the scalp's health is below par. Both dry and oily scalps suffer from those flaky deposits which shower their sufferers from head to shoulders. For dandruff is actually a scalp infection. Very dry hair or very oily hair indicates an abnormal scalp condition which should be corrected.

These scientific facts, backed by leading medical men . . . formed the basis on which a noted hair specialist firm originated their scientific scalp treatments and products. For more than 40 years this company has been salvaging many a lost head . . . so you know their products are of the highest quality and integrity.

This ointment and tonic are two of their best. Supplemented with a pure castile shampoo . . . the treatment is specific for producing a halo head of healthy, vibrant hair. A representative of this company is in town this week. All you have to do is look at her luxuriant head of hair to know she is in the hair business.

In this ointment and tonic treatment you'll find nourishing regenerating ingredients to help feed the scalp . . . and to reinvigorate listless hair into a crop of beauty.

This pair of hair groomers enables weak hair to grow stronger . . . corrects scalp conditions and does a bang-up job of casting into oblivion the white dusty particles that warn of approaching hair ill-health. And from our thankful reader . . . you may also gather that it is right answer to the baby-fine condition.

Use the ointment before the pure castile shampoo to loosen any dandruff and lubricate the hair.

For the name of these choice hair invigorators . . . ointment, tonic and shampoo . . . phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, daily except Sunday, or write me, care of the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

THERE'S glamor even in pigtails . . . when those pigtails are as hair-beautiful and silky-soft to the touch as Frances Gifford's youthful hairdo adventure obviously appears. It isn't the hair style but how the hair looks that makes it wonderful . . . and gives man or woman, boy or girl that healthy-halo charm.

Long Skirt Vogue Upheld

MEN BETTER STOP "BEEFING" about the new fashions for it is their boredom with the unchanged feminine silhouette of the past years, the fact that their eyes were becoming too accustomed to the way women look that has brought about the revolutionary and drastic change of the "new look."

"It is just beguiling woman's new tactic to attract the boys," Hardy Aimes, that personable young Englishman and member of that small, ultra-select group of British couturiers, told Boston's fashion press yesterday. And with a penetrating twinkle, at that!

"The new look is a wonderful look. And since women dress to attract men, with seduction the whole object of women's dress, the change was inevitable," he pointed out.

However, this famous designer doesn't consider the new look revolutionary, but the gradual evolution of fashion in its attempt to keep pace with the mood of the times and the thinking of the world populace.

Of course, Hardy Aimes is in no small measure responsible for the new look. He it was who declared that "the battle of the shoulder was won below the knee." Opposed to the clothes-hanger shoulder-look, he started returning the shoulders to normal contours several seasons ago. Then he accented the bosom with cross-over bodices in an "I've got something precious look," to quote the designer's own words, and padded the hips for a small-waisted effect and for a look of strong, feminine curves.

He firmly believes the skirt will get longer before it gets shorter, since the entire silhouette demands the grace and anatomical sweep which longer skirts afford.

"Of course, the English woman doesn't wear her skirts as long as they are being shown in America," he continued. "My daytime clothes are between 14½ and 15 inches from the ground. That's because we are on clothes coupons in England, and English women must ration their wardrobe. Hence, last year's coat must be considered. However, for export to America, my clothes are about two inches longer."

While in this country, Aimes will visit leading shops and stores carrying his clothes. Today he is a head-table guest of the Boston Fashion Group at the Hotel Somerset. R. M.

Lady Is First To Speak

DEAR MRS. EEECKMAN:

To settle a discussion my brother and I had last evening, will you please answer this question: Who bows and speaks first, the lady or the gentleman? CHARLOTTE.

Under circumstances that may be called more or less formal . . . that is, when the two are only slight acquaintances . . . it is the lady who has the privilege of acknowledging the acquaintanceship by bowing or speaking first. But when friends meet each other, or co-workers, or classmates meet, they usually greet each other simultaneously . . . there is no waiting for "precedence."

Old Fashioned Chemise

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

THE shape of the new dresses is determined in large part by what is worn underneath them. The era of careless foundation work has passed. Now the well-dressed woman shapes her silhouette over the smooth lines of a chemise and a matching petticoat.

The old-fashioned chemise, slicked to the figure like a second skin, is making an important return. This short, one-piece garment combines bra, slip top and panties in one smooth stroke. There are no midriff folds and bulges to interfere with the tightly molded waistlines of the new-line dresses. The matching petticoat does the work of a slip without adding bulk.

Mme. Tewi designed the chemise and petticoat sketched today. Made of pure silk in a choice of light or dark colors, both pieces are inset with wide bands of lace in a pyramid design. The lace is touched with tiers of appliqued bows.

Menus for Thursday Meals

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

MEATLESS DAYS, POULTRYLESS AND EGGLESS DAYS may disconcert meal planners temporarily—but if they take time out to think about it, they'll realize that going without these foods isn't a hardship at all. We have so many others available in this country that there is small chance of anyone's going hungry.

On meatless days, we have a choice of poultry, fish, eggs, cheese, vegetables, etc.—on the days we're asked to go without poultry and eggs, we have practically everything else at our disposal.

The Citizens' Food Committee has asked also that we use one less slice of bread a day. This loss can easily be made up with an extra potato if appetites are not satisfied. We believe that every American citizen wants to share

Below is a menu suggestion for three substantial meals—Thursday—using no eggs or poultry

Shortstop No. 1 Problem of B's For Next Year

By JACK CONWAY

NOW THAT THE BRAVES have signed Billy Southworth to a five-year contract for $250,000, they will try to give him the playing strength he needs to win the National League pennant in 1948. Messrs. Perini, Maney and Rugo will go all out in trades and cash purchases to accomplish the desired results.

The Braves' order calls for: (a) shortstop; (b) two outfielders; (c) two starting pitchers; (d) catcher in the event Phil Masi is let go in one of the proposed deals.

Southworth will keep Earl Torgeson at first base, Connie Ryan at second base, and the colorful and hard hitting Bob Elliot at third base. The infield weakness is at shortstop. Culler, Fernandez and Sisti divided shortstop duties last season and none of the trio came up to Southworth's expectations. Culler fielded well, but he was weak at bat.

Marty Marion of the Cardinals, who has been mentioned in connection with Braves' deals, is a better defensive ballplayer than Culler, but he too is a weak hitter. Marion and Enos Slaughter were the topic of discussion in a recent meeting of representatives of the Braves and Cardinals.

The Braves have two of the best starting pitchers in the league in Johnny Sain and Warren Spahn. Each ended the season with 21 victories.

Southworth does not expect to get two more 20-game pitchers. He will settle for flingers who can win 15 games.

With a harder hitting shortstop, and with increased power in the outfield, the task of Braves' pitchers will be easier than it was this past season.

The Braves have made no secret of the fact every player on the club is available for trading purposes with the exception of Elliot, Ryan, Torgeson, Sain and Spahn.

President Lou Perini declared Enos Slaughter of the Cardinals is one of the players he has tried to get. Slaughter's hitting ability would help the Braves a great deal.

Record Advance Sale for 1948 Games Expected

WITH MORE BASEBALL interest in the Braves and Red Sox than ever before, a record advance sale of tickets for next season's games at Fenway Park and Braves Field is expected. All attendance marks should be shattered by both clubs as Billy Southworth and Joe McCarthy try to bring pennants here.

If the Braves can secure the desired new strength, while Joe McCarthy gets a top third baseman, a new first sacker, additional pitching strength and one standout catcher, both Boston clubs will have a chance to win a pennant. If this should take place, it would be the first time in the history that the Red Sox and Braves finished in first place in the same year. It was in 1946 that the Sox won their last pennant, while the Braves must go back to 1914 to find a pennant winner.

Football Game at Raynham Dog Track

RUSS MURRAY WILL try an innovation tomorrow night when a semi-professional football game between Easton and Taunton will be played on the infield of his Raynham Jog track. The infield has been made ideal for football.

"I am anxious to do something for high school, semi-pro and Legion football teams in Bristol and Plymouth counties," said Murray. "I am offering the full facilities of Raynham Park to any of these groups for a $1 rental. My lawyers tell me a $1 fee is necessary to make everything legal."

Murray says any teams desiring the use of Raynham Park should communicate with him at the track, and he will make the date arrangements.

B. U. Wise in Making Date Shift

BOSTON UNIVERSITY used good judgment in shifting its game with NYU from Friday night to Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. at Fenway Park. This will avoid an unnecessary conflict with the Boston College-Kansas State game which will be held at Braves Field on Friday night. Harvard playing in Virginia on Saturday, that date was open here.

Dr. John W. Harmon writes that he feels Fenway Park is charging B. U. too much for football rental, while he denies the report that Tom Yawkey has given "Buff" Donelli's club special aid.

Dr. Harmon writes as follows:

"Dear Jack: Your optimism and information leads me to suggest I would appreciate you representing me at Fenway Park to get our rent reduced to the figure it was since we started playing football at Fenway in 1934, which I think is too high.

"I might also add that we will take any and all money you or anyone else can get Yawkey to give us. We cannot be 'bought off' on methods of administering college athletics. Our methods and principle have not changed and will not change. I am sure that Yawkey, Donelli or any other friend would have B. U. be any different from the conservative, big, democratic University she has always been."

Weiss Takes Yanks' Helm; MacPhail Out of Baseball

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP)—So Larry MacPhail picks up the $2,000,000 and goes back to his Maryland farm and the world champion Yankees start down a new road under the direction of General Manager George Weiss.

The era of showboat promotion that resulted in new all-time records for baseball attendance at the Yankee Stadium in 1946 and 1947 and a new World Series high probably will be forgotten. The turnstiles still will whirl under the impetus of a hustling ball club and night ball, but no more pregame archery tests.

"You can only promote so far," Dan Topping, the new Yankee president, said last night after announcing that he and Del Webb, MacPhail's former partners, had bought up Larry's one-third share for $2,000,000. The official word from Topping followed by several minutes a telephone call to the Associated Press by MacPhail who gave out the same information.

So to the very end, MacPhail remained in character, topping his dramatic farewell announcement after the last out of Monday's World Series finale by beating his partners to the punch with the story that he had sold out.

What the future holds for MacPhail, one of the most colorful figures in baseball history, remains to be seen. But it definitely will not be with the Yankees.

"That is all over," Topping said, illustrating his words with a chopping motion of the hand, like a butcher wielding his cleaver.

The final showdown session attended by the three ex-partners yesterday afternoon was described by Topping as "amicable" but last night when he and Webb held a press conference, MacPhail was absent. There were no tears in the eyes of those present.

During the hectic 27-hour period since the final out of the series, MacPhail blackened the eye of a former associate, John McDonald, who was road secretary under him at Brooklyn. That happened in a "victory" celebration at a midtown hotel, climaxed by a number of arguments that Topping said were "better left unsaid."

Topping admitted one of MacPhail's acts during the victory celebration was to "fire" Weiss. Commenting on that action the youthful co-owner referred to Weiss' new job when he said, "Not bad for a man who was fired last night."

An interesting sidelight was offered by an authoritative source, who cannot be identified. He disclosed that MacPhail's original financial share of the $2,900,000 Jan. 25, 1945 deal by which the partners acquired the Yanks was only "about $200,000."

Through Topping and Webb it was made possible for MacPhail to eventually attain the status of a one-third stockholder. His salary as president, running through 1950 until ended by yesterday's deal, called for $50,000 per year.

Topping said Commissioner A. B. Chandler had been informed of the change but he insisted Chandler had "nothing to do with it." Some skeptics still thought the Chandler-MacPhail conference in Cincinnati in early May was at least a contributing factor.

SHINER SEQUEL TO SERIES—John McDonald, former road secretary of the Dodgers, sports dark glasses covering a technicolored eye in his Brooklyn home after a mixup with Larry MacPhail, retired president of the Yankees, during Series victory party in the Hotel Biltmore. Altercation allegedly occurred after remarks were made about Branch Rickey. McDonald said he didn't hit MacPhail back because "he's 20 years older than I am."

NATS' JOB OPEN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—Ossie Bluege was out as manager of the Washington Senators today after a stormy season which included several clubhouse flareups and a seventh place finish.

President Clark Griffith said Bluege would become supervisor of the club's farm system Jan. 1 and that there had been no decision on his successor as manager.

However, the gossips had it that the candidates include Rick Ferrell, veteran catcher, Sammy West, one of the Nats coaches, Buddy Myer, former second baseman, and Joe Kuhel, former first baseman.

Loew May Take Stand In Harness Track Case

Elias M. Loew, wealthy theater chain owner and prominently mentioned in the backing of the light harness racing track at Foxboro, was expected to take the stand in superior court today, where Joseph W. Doherty, Brookline broker, is seeking $25,000 in commissions and 8 per cent of the track's stock which he claims are due him for services.

Sports Promoter Paul Bowser, who has already testified that the track had cost $1,300,000, said Loew received for his contribution 25 per cen. of the track stock and 50 per cent of the track's concessions. Loew, up until today, has not been called to the witness stand, although his name has been mentioned several times.

Bowser and his partner, Marvin Westenberg, who used to wrestle as "The Masked Marvel" have testified that no promise had been made to Doherty regarding a 5 per cent bonus for helping obtain a $500,000 loan from Loew.

John A. Breen, Dorchester real estate broker and one-time Boston Housing Administrator, has corroborated Bowser's testimony that there was never any agreement such as Doherty alleges regarding the Loew bonus.

Breen testified he had helped Bowser acquire the track site in Foxboro.

Final Decision on Durocher Due Today

BROOKLYN, Oct. 8 (AP)—The World Series ended Monday; Larry MacPhail quit the New York Yankees yesterday's; today's big baseball news may come in the Leo Durocher case.

There is no certainty about it, but perhaps by nightfall Durocher may know whether he is to return as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1948.

No meting betwen Durocher, who supposedly has been told by Commissioner A. B. Chandler that his one-year suspension ended automatically with the last out of the World Series, and Pres. Branch Ickey of the Dodgers, has been announced.

However, Leo and his actress wife, Laraine Day, are scheduled to fly back to Hollywood tonight. Yesterday Leo said: "I haven't seen Mr. Rickey yet. However, I have asked for an appointment and do expect to see him before I return to the Coast."

Thus the experts reason Durocher and Rickey will huddle something today.

Rickey's only comment yesterday on the Durocher case: "There is nothing I can say on Durocher at the moment and I don't think I will have anything to say for sometime to come."

The Mahatma of Montague st., as Rickey sometimes is called, seemed more concerned with cooking up some deals to strengthen the Dodgers.

He held a four-hour conference with Burt Shotton, who replaced Durocher as 1947 manager, over prospects for 1948, then conferred with representatives of the Boston Braves. The Braves reportedly are interested in making a deal for Brooklyn outfielder Pete Reiser.

Joe DiMaggio Played Season With Dead Arm

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (INS)—Joe DiMaggio, mainstay of the New York Yankees, played the 1947 season and World Series with his throwing arm so "dead" that opposing base runners might have run the Yankees right out of the pennant had they known.

According to an article in the New York Daily Mirror it was revealed today that DiMaggio "fooled the game's smartest brains all season" by bluffing throws with what was once the mightiest arm in baseball.

The article said that Poker Face Joe "gave one of the most fantastic exhibitions of faking" and that his occasional long throws "almost floored him."

DiMaggio is suffering from bone chips in the elbow which may require an operation this winter unless the calcification dissolves.

The Yankee Clipper had been beset with injuries all year which would have forced a less courageous player to drop out of the lineup. Had Joe yielded to these ailments, the World Series flag might be flying over Brooklyn today.

Sebastian Victor Before 741 Fans

Flash Sebastian, welterweight champion of Hawaii, registered an upset in the opening show of the Dempsey A. A. last night at Mechanics Building before a slim crowd of 741. He won the award from Dave Andrews (145), former N. E. welter crown holder.

It was a tough, rugged battle, something of a throw-back to the era of Eddie Shevlin and Dave Shade. Both boys were willing. Sebastian showed an effective uppercut that bothered the Lowell man no end.

Tufts Freshmen Hold Varsity to 2 Touchdowns

A long scrimmage this afternoon and a blackboard drill tonight have been scheduled for the Tufts football squad by Coach Fred Ellis who was keenly disappointed yesterday when the freshmen held the varsity to two touchdowns. Only man who turned in a top performance was tackle Bruce Reed.

Tufts plays Bates at Lewiston, Me., Saturday.

Crusaders to Keep 2-Quarterback System

WORCESTER, Oct. 8 (AP)—Center Jim Deffley is expected to be it to start or Holy Cross Saturday against Villanova. The Woonsocket, R. I., player came through yesterday's stiff scrimmage in good shape.

Coach Ox Dagrosa indicated he would continue his two quarterback system, Wally Brennan on offense and co-captain Ray Ball on defense.

Several New Faces In Bowdoin Lineup

BRUNSWICK, Me., Oct. 8 (AP)—Several new faces were in first string positions today as Bowdoin prepared to repulse Amherst Saturday. Coach Adam Walsh promoted Al Veale from the Jayvees to the varsity backfield. Paul Zdaniwicz and Jim Burgess were on the ends and the guards were Charles Lovejoy and Harold March.

Major Crew H for Harvard 150-Pound Crew

Members of the Harvard 150-pound crew had a new incentive today. William J. Bingham, director of athletics, announced a major crew H will be awarded members of the varsity 150's that win the Eastern Intercollegiate 150-pound crew race.

Coast Teams Stress Blocking

By FRANK LEAHY
Head Coach, Notre Dame University

Seems like old times to have one of those powerful and showy Coast teams playing in our neighborhood. When the Trojans of Southern California face Ohio State next Saturday at Columbus, Mid-Western fans will have a chance to enjoy a preview of flashy things to come from the shores of the Pacific.

FRANK LEAHY

There is no doubt that the Pacific Coast teams are in a state of resurgence. For some reason they seemed to have suffered most from a dearth of material during the war years. Gone was the abundance of husky material and gone was the sound of thunderous blocking.

Led by clever Lynn Waldorf and his colorful California Bears, the boys out that way seem on the road back. Waldorf may be the pigskin Pied Piper for which the grid fans of that sunny state have been longing.

Anyway, it will be good to have Southern California in our midst. I've always admired the brand of football they play out that way. Some of the blocks thrown by Coast players of yore were things of masterly and artistic beauty. Blocking was sort of a Coast trademark and now the coaches seem to have strong enough raw material again to work along those lines. Color and showmanship are typical of Pacific Coast competition.

Other sections have easy recognizable characteristics if you stop to think of it. In fact, environment seems to mold the type of play in all sections of the nation.

They surround every game with a dash of Rose Bowl glamor on the West Coast. Pretty cheer leaders, who could double as Hollywood starlets; color and pageantry on every hand. And the players put on showy performances. The play's the thing out there.

Turn to the great open spaces of the Southwest. There they play a wide open, daring, hard-riding brand of ball that fits perfectly into the general background of the country. You might call it a Texas Ranger type of play. Shoot the works and let fate care for the consequences. And Southwestern football has become as popular as those Western films in all that glorious technicolor.

Then look toward the Deep South. They play down there with a deep, abiding pride in the sections from whence the teams come. A Southern team is always most dangerous when the tide of battle goes against it. The players seem to rise to fanatical heights. Like restaging the Civil War.

In the Mid-West the boys play a thorough, determined game. Most of them come from great, gently rolling farms. You find Mid-Western football players generally serious, hard workers; playing carefully planned schedules just as they farm the land.

Along the Atlantic coastline and in the ivy-covered halls of what we Americans like to call ancient campuses—for us they are ancient anyway—victory is taken with a more philosophic calm. Win to be sure. But after all, it is all a part of the scheme of life and and why shout too much about it? And don't be misled by this philosophic restraint. The Ivy League boys will beat your brains out if they can—and do it with a smile.

Delving further into the matter, you find that the characteristics shown so clearly on the football field were shown equally as distinctly when the stakes were even higher—in time of war. The rawboned Texans took to the Cavalry units that became fast-rushing armored divisions in the last war. The fighting was fast and furious and the steely-eyed Texans thrived on it. From the Pacific Coast came lots of paratroopers, flashy and deadly showmen of battle, if that description is permissible.

From the Mid-West came the steady, plodding boys who were in there when the going was roughest. The South gave boys who took over places like Guadalcanal as their home while there and defended it as they did their own land, with fierce pride.

And from the East came the quieter, more studious and just as deadly men of battle.

Yes, football is characteristic of this great nation and that's why it is such a great game. A game to be played hard and fairly, and by boys with pride and determination that bring about a healthful condition of body and mind.

Harlow Seeking More Depth in Backfield

By BILL GRIMES

With but two practice sessions remaining before starting for Charlotteville, Ga., Coach Dick Harlow is striving to get more depth in his backfield.

The squad will entrain tomorrow night and will work out at Charlotteville Friday afternoon . . . At this week's football luncheon, Harlow paid high tribute to Ken O'Donnell for mastering the offensive and defensive assignments of three backfield positions . . . Years ago, Cleo O'Donnell Sr. predicted Ken would become the best football player in the family.

Because he shuns publicity, Jack Fadden, the Boston Yanks' trainer who served his apprenticeship under Dr. Thomas K. Richards at Harvard, is practically unknown but there are few trainers in any branch of sport as efficient as Jack . . . Although it's been a long, long time since the Kansas State Wildcats have chalked up a gridiron victory, the show that "Jitterbug" Joe Dimitnick, the Eagles' scat back, staged against the Clemson Tigers should attract plenty of fans to Braves Field Friday night . . . Coach "Buff" Donelli has been coaching too long to allow his B. U. Terriers to bog down this week. Contrary to the general opinion of the undergraduate body, B. U. didn't have a Chinaman's chance of beating Harvard. That the Terriers lost by a margin of but five points was a morale victory for the "Intowners."

Probably Elmer "Butch" Nieman, who played (?) outfield for the Braves during World War II, has been forgotten by the baseball fans. And only the Gene Mack recalls that "Butch" played halfback for the Kansas State against B. C. at Fenway Park about eight years ago. But I'll never forget Nieman's blow by blow description of the going over he received from the Eagles. It was a classic.

The Brown Bears are going Hollywood. This season the flags of all Ivy League colleges, except Brown, will fly from the staffs located on the top of the North stand at Brown Field . . . Don Colo, a candidate for a tackle berth on Coach "Rip" Engle's current Brown eleven who tips the scales at 247, never played organized football until he joined the Junior Varsity last year. Now Colo is regarded as a "comer."

After his Dons had beaten San Jose State, 20 to 6, Head Coach Ed McKeever, who has been drifting around like a ship without a rudder since he severed affiliations with Frank Leahy, scrimmaged the University of San Francisco Monday morning . . . A promising freshman football player, who was enrolled at Boston University is now a candidate for the Georgetown eleven. Not good!

Santarpios Play in Chelsea Tonight

The Santarpio Club of East Boston, composed of former East Boston high school stars, will meet the strong Lynn Scarlet Rockets in a semi-pro football tussle tonight at 8:30 under floodlights at the Chelsea Memorial Stadium.

STILL AN AMATEUR

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Oct. 8 (AP)—National Tennis Champion Jack Kramer said today, "I'm still playing amateur tennis and expect to for some time."

Professional offers are still swirling about his head, he said, "but I've got at least four or five weeks more to think 'em over and I'm not making any hasty decision."

'Pures' Box Tonight In Mechanics Ring

Lightweights and middleweights will be headlining the opening amateur boxing program of the season tonight at Mechanics Building.

A pair of experimental 3-round matches, pitting Dick Galvin, Jamaica Plain 160-pounder, against Rod McDonald, Quincy, and Howard Kane, Arlington, against Larry Bakiskini, North End, will be added features.

Entries in the 135-pound class will include Bobby Hayes, Roxbury; Paul Boucher South End; Americo Arcommando, East Boston, and Frank McDonald, Charlestown Boys' Club. The middleweight group will list Warren Parsons, Saugus; Joe Daley, Cambridge; Joe DiAngelo, Charlestown, and Joe Gill, Roxbury.

Heavyweights Jim Sanford, Cambridge, and Lou Thresher, North End, have also filed.

Competition in this show will be in all classes from the 112's to heavyweights.

Curley Answers McKeever's Charge

Denying Ed McKeever's charge of spiriting Al Cannava, Bob Palladino and Arthur Donovan off the Notre Dame campus to the Heights, John P. Curley, graduate manager of athletics at Boston College, said: "We didn't solicit the services of any of these players. They played at Notre Dame while they were in the service and enrolled at B. C. without any pressure from the officials here."

McKeever, former coach at B. C., Notre Dame and Cornell who is serving his first year as head mentor of the University of San Francisco eleven, was quoted as "wondering how those boys happened to wind up in Boston instead of South Bend."

First string quarterback Ed Clasby was also a student at Notre Dame.

Commenting on him, Curley stated: "Clasby played at South Bend because he was sent there while under the Navy's V-12 training program. Before he entered the service he had expressed a desire to play here at B. C. He even came up here while home on leave and asked if he could enroll after he was discharged.

"To the best of my knowledge, the other players (Donovan, Cannava and Palladino) also played for Notre Dame because they were stationed there. To my way of thinking, McKeever has no basis for his statement," continued Curley.

Citing Robert "Red" Mangene, present assistant coach at the Heights, as an example, Curley said: "Nobody ever claimed Mangene as a Dartmouth player because he happened to play there while in the Marines. The same situation applies to these boys."

Eddie Burns and John Killelea, members of last year's team played at Villanova while in the service and other candidates on this season's Eagle eleven performed for various colleges during the war years.

"The papers and even the national magazines are trying to build up a feud between the two Jesuit schools. I can truthfully say that no ill feeling exists between B. C. and S. F. U.," concluded the B. C. chief.

When queried about McKeever's statement, Denny Meyers, head coach at the Heights, stated: "I don't know too much about what he (McKeever) had to say, but I do know that the only reason those boys played at Notre Dame was because they were stationed there in the service. Cannava, Palladino and Clasby are local boys. Cannava's from Medford and Palladino and Clasby live in Natick. Why shouldn't they enroll at B. C.

"As for Donovan," Myers continued, "he's from New York and he came to the Heights because he was persuaded to do so by one of his friends. He was never influenced by myself or any officials at B. C."

Cannava seemed to take McKeever's charge with a grain of salt. He shrugged his shoulders and said: "Don't know anything about it. I came here because I wanted to, not because I was influenced by anybody."

Donovan is a 235-pound guard. Cannava and Palladino are halfbacks while Ed Clasby is first string quarterback.

The Eagles, who play their second game of the season Friday, meeting the Kansas State Wildcats under the lights at Braves Field, were sent through a stiff drill at Alumni Field Stressing offensive play, Myers devoted a good deal of time to his passing attack with quarterbacks Ed Clasby and Steve Stuka doing the tossing.

Asked about the condition of fullback Ed "Butch" Songin who suffered a painful bruise on his heel in the opener against Clemson, Myers said: "I think he'll be ready to play against Kansas State. Palladino is still rounding into shape after his wrenched knee," he continued. "He may play for a few minutes Friday."

Doubleheader at 'Rock' Monday

SALEM, N. H.—One of the most entertaining sports fixtures of the New England year will be held at Rockingham Park next Monday, when Lou Smith will stage his annual turf doubleheader.

Smith announced today that there will be a six-race card in the morning, with post time for the first at 10 o'clock, to be followed by the usual eight race card in the afternoon, starting at 1:30.

Two daily doubles will be in order, and one admission covers the entire day of racing. Special trains will be run from the North Station, with the final section of the morning train leaving at 8:45 and the final section in the afternoon leaving at 12:15.

More than 500 of the thoroughbreds quartered here already have been screened, under the supervision of Dr. H. M. Lewis, as a necessary step towards obtaining a clean bill of health. Every thoroughbred on the grounds will have been screened within a week, and within three weeks, it is expected and hoped that the quarantine due to the epidemic of swamp fever will be lifted.

Steelers' Coach Rates Clement With Dudley

Jock Sutherland, "The Canny Scot," was the target of much criticism when he traded Bill Dudley to the Detroit Lions, but the famed coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers insisted that Johnny Clement would be just as effective in his single wing type of offense.

Now it so happens that Sutherland is not a gent who makes statements unless he means them and his "plug" for Clement has plenty of merit as the records show. This former Southern Methodist great, who'll be the Steelers spark against the Yanks Sunday at Fenway Park, is second only to Steve Van Buren in total ground gained with 150 yards—this 150 yards, incidentally, is higher than any runner has achieved in the Western Division.

In passing, Clement is second to Sammy Baugh in the Eastern Division. He has completed 17 out of 39 passes for 273 yards and two touchdowns.

According to the official statistics released, "Red" Maley, Boston Yanks ace punter, is leading the Eastern Division in that respect with a 42.2 average for 16 kicks . . . despite the fact that Hal Crisler, Yanks' top pass receiver, has seen only limited action, he has still caught six passes and is only six catches away from Val Jansante of the Steelers who is leading both divisions with 12.

EXPERIMENTING

Long Scrimmage Ahead For St. Michael Gridders

WILLIAMSTOWN, Oct. 8 (AP)—Tim Conway probably will be at center Saturday when Williams plays Rensselaer Polytech at Troy, N. Y. Jim Lyons, who started last week against Middlebury, is expected to be in the backfield in place of Stew Duffield, also injured.

Next 3 Games to Tell Everett Story

Everett high school followers may be lightly entertaining another state championship dream for their football team but Capt. Eddie Leo, the "best center in the schoolboy ranks," has ideas of his own on the subject as he leads his team into their stiffest three week-ends on the schedule.

The Crimson Tide moves into the home of the Salem Witches this Saturday; then hops into Manning Bowl, Lynn, for the game of the year against Lynn Classical Saturday night, Oct. 18, before entertaining Medford.

And if they can come through on all three occasions, the Eastern title may be resting once again on the shoulders of Coach Dennie Gildea's boys. It's a tremendous order in rapid sequence but one that Capt. Leo intends to attain through the diligent training schedule that he has mapped out for his mates, as well as himself.

Last Saturday night, for example, Leo made a personal tour of the local movies to round up any members of the squad who might be stretching beyond alloted time. Then, he visited the Youth Canteen. The boys he missed, he telephoned from his home to make sure that they were observing their Cinderella hour.

The 185-pound pivot man, a 3-year veteran in the Everett line, knows that his team has the talent to come through on top. It's just a matter of keeping them in line, although the majority of them are just as anxious as their captain to make up for the batterings they took last year over a 3-6 campaign.

Leo's activities off the gridiron are typical of his play on the field. He's everywhere, grabbing off interceptions; making tackles from the rear and accomplishing so much that Coach Gildea, a center himself, earnestly tabs him as the best man in the ranks.

His mates in the line, out to avenge scores from last fall, have already gained as many victories as they chalked up in 1946. They rolled over Turners Falls (a Class A team); toppled Arlington and then gained full momentum in stomping by Somerville by an amazing 40-12 count. Their next three problems are well defined for them as they again go after Salem.

Everett's guards and tackles are literally balanced. Flanking Leo at center are Joe Puopolo and Rudy Scenna, built exactly along the same lines at a bulky 5.8, 200 pounds. And tackles Joe Donohue and Ken Doig, rate as 205-pound twins, almost impossible to tell apart from the rear. Ends show a difference in height with Dick Lionette hitting 6.4, 195, and Tony Del Isola, 6, 200.

In the backfield, Everett has Bill Gochis calling plays for Charlie Lander, Jim Carroll and Bob Merola, a high hard-running back of the Bill Osmanski type. Lander and Carroll, however, feel plenty of pressure from Paul Lanouette and Art Zacular.

For depth, Everett has no reason to take a back seat with a top-notch end in Whitey Johnson as well as reserves Harold Braese, and Ralph Cessare; tackles Art Sheppard and Art Knowlton; guards Pete Simonelli and Al Colarusso and center Tony Rocco.

The team is on the rebound and if they're successful against the Witches, Manning Bowl will be unable to hold the fans wishing to see the Classical clash.

WOBURN'S 1ST NIGHT GAME

The first night football game in the history of Woburn will be held at the High School Stadium, Friday, at 8:15 p. m., when the Mushalaugs and the Pat Lynch Club of Boston clash.

VIRGINIA GAME LOOMS BIG TO HARVARD

Harvard will entrain for Charlottesville, Va., tomorrow night at 11 o'clock where they will tussle with the formidable Cavaliers.

The tilt will be a big one for Dick Harlow, probably one of the toughest on his 9-game card. Some sort of comparison can be drawn between the two clubs since they both played Princeton in '46. Harvard nosed out the Tigers 13-12 while the Cavaliers fared better in a 20-7 win.

The Harlow opponents had a '47 turnout of two dozen lettermen and only 10 members of the 60-man squad were reporting for the first time when practice started on Sept. 1, so the team should be as formidable as last year's anyway.

After the B. U. tilt, Harlow invited Ed "Butch" Slaughter, the Virginia line coach who was here to scout the Crimson, to sit in on the press conference. When asked what he expected Harvard to do against his own club Slaughter merely smiled and declared that he saw a lot of strength in the Stadium. He added that he thought the Cavalier's ace backfield threat Bruce Bailey could play pro ball with almost any organization in the country right now.

Bailey, a 6-2, 200-pound halfback from Santa Rosa, Cal., is slated for the key tailback spot in the Virginia T-formation and will be one of the Crimson headaches.

Virginia has made nine trips to Cambridge in the period from 1915 to 1938 losing each time to the Crimson. For the Harlowmen it will be the first time in the history of the school that a team has been south of the Potomac.

Dartmouth Solves Penn Aerial Attack

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 8 (AP)—Dartmouth, whose rugged defense stopped Holy Cross in its tracks 11 times in the season's opener, has been solving the Penn aerial attack, as put on by the Green Jayvees, this week.

The team's offense also is improving. Captain Jud Hannigan has been dealing out savage blocks in punt returns and kick-offs and sophomore tailback Larry Perry has been turning in some fine runs.

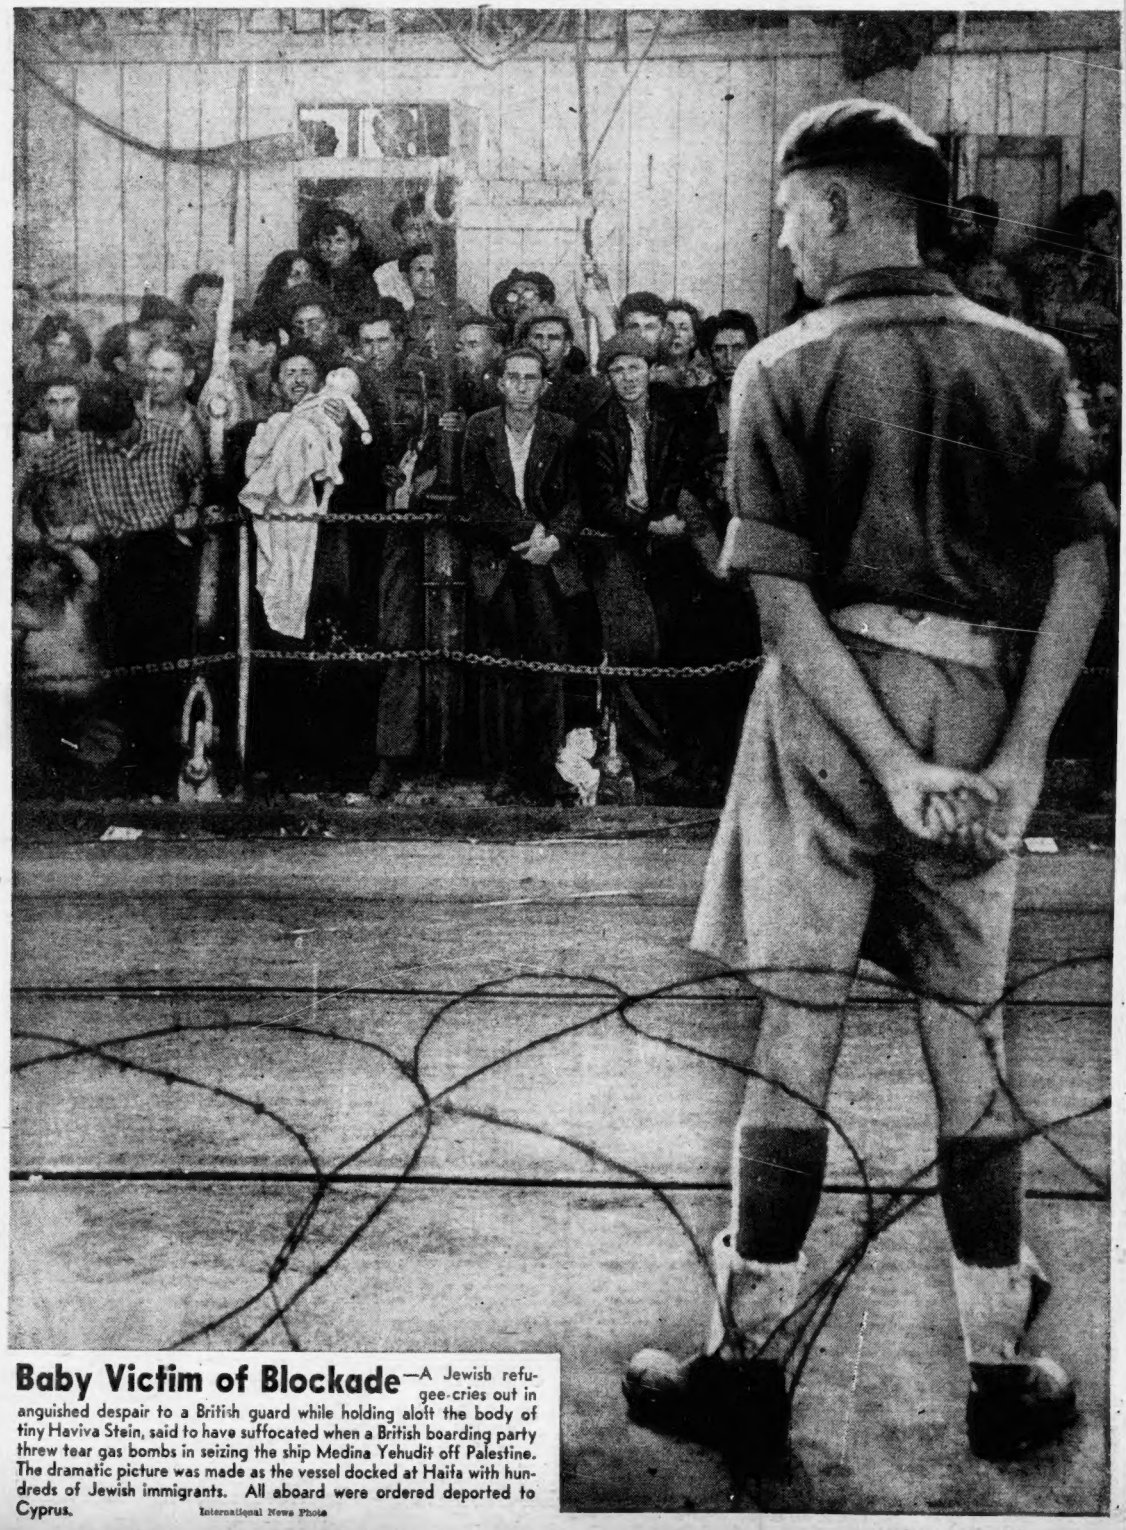
---Death and Despair at Haifa---



Baby Victim of Blockade—A Jewish refugee cries out in anguished despair to a British guard while holding aloft the body of tiny Haviva Stein, said to have suffocated when a British boarding party threw tear gas bombs in seizing the ship Medina Yehudit off Palestine. The dramatic picture was made as the vessel docked at Haifa with hundreds of Jewish immigrants. All aboard were ordered deported to Cyprus.
